

Milwaukee Loses Non-Intoxicating Rum License Law

UPHELD BY HIGHEST STATE COURT

Syrup With Trace of Alcohol Doesn't Make Pop Intoxicating

Madison (AP)—Addition of syrup containing a trace of alcohol to soda water does not remove the mixture from the class of soda water beverages, the supreme court ruled today in approving an injunction restraining the city of Milwaukee from enforcing its non-intoxicating liquor license ordinance.

The question involved, the court held, concerned the power of Wisconsin municipalities to enact licensing laws covering sale of non-intoxicants. Since the repeal of the state prohibition law, the licensing of soft drink manufacturing has come under the state dairy and food commission.

In the opinion on the case, written by Justice E. Ray Stevens, it was held that the regulation of those who manufacture soda water beverages is a problem of public health rather than the regulation of traffic in illicit liquor.

"The court is satisfied," the opinion said, "that the beverages in question in this case are not taken out of the class of soda water beverages by the fact that syrup used to flavor them introduce a trace of alcohol not exceeding a ratio of one part alcohol to 1,791 parts by volume of the beverage."

The victory of the E. L. Hustung company, manufacturers of soft drinks and the recipients of Judge Gustave Gerz's temporary injunction against the city, was recognized as causing Wisconsin municipalities to lose a possible revenue of $250,000 annually.

POINT AT ISSUE

Most Wisconsin cities and villages require annual licenses for the sale of non-intoxicating beverages. The fees required range from $5 to $50.

With repeal of the Severeau state prohibition act, which included provision for licensing of soft drink manufacturing, the Michigan law, vesting licensing authority in the state dry and food commission, was operative. The Michigan law, the Hustung company contended, deprived the city of its soft-drink licensing authority.

When the city of Milwaukee sought to enforce licensing the company obtained a court order restraining the city from collecting a drink tax.

Assistant City Attorney Joseph L. Bednarek of Milwaukee affirmed the fact that state laws were not clear on the rights of municipalities to tax the soft-drink manufacturers and a test case was sought and carried to the state supreme court.

So interested were municipalities of the state that their association, the Wisconsin League of Municipalities, filed argument briefs with the high bench as "friends of the court."

The case hinged on whether the slight amount of alcohol used to make the fruit juices used in the soda pop dissolved in the carbonated water that furnishes its chief constituent is sufficient to make the pop and alcoholic beverage and whether the carrying over, in the repealed state prohibition law and its subsequent licensing laws of the provision for municipal license warrants the city of Milwaukee taking the license fees it desires.

PEACHES TO "CASH IN" ON ROMANCE

Sale of Buildings by Browning Will Net Her $188,999.99

New York—Peaches Browning appeared Monday to "cash in" on her romance with Daddy Brown, for exactly $188,999.99. And there may be more later.

The sum was virtually assured her Monday when Browning asked permission to sell four buildings, his wife's dower rights to be impressed on the property.

Browning's motion will go before Supreme Court Justice Aaron J. Levy for approval. It was made after Philip J. Sonnot, acting as special referee, held hearings to determine the value of the buildings and Peaches' share.

One building is to be sold to the Tison Holding corporation for $210,000. Peaches' share is $113,333.33.

3 CASES INVOLVING APPLETON PEOPLE, FIRMS ARE REVERSED

Two Reversals by State Supreme Court in Local Judge's Cases

Reversals were made by the supreme court in decisions made public Tuesday morning, in three cases involving Appleton firms or Appleton residents. Two of the reversals were against judges of Outagamie county courts and the third was a case tried in circuit court in Marinette county.

In the case of Mrs. Edward Cotter, Montello, versus the Central Mutual Hall and Cyclopedia Insurance company of Appleton, the supreme court set aside a verdict of $1,500 awarded Mrs. Cotter by a jury in circuit court in Marinette county. The case was tried before Circuit Judge Walter Schmitz of Appleton, who was sitting at Montello.

Mrs. Cotter sustained a cyclone loss and sued for recovery on a policy which she had with the Appleton insurance company. She claimed an adjustment of the claim had been made by two representatives of the company and the jury held she was entitled to $1,500 damages. The insurance company claimed Mrs. Cotter had failed to pay assessments made against her as a stockholder, and that as a result her policy was cancelled and she was not entitled to damages.

A reversal also was given on Judge Fred V. Heinemann's ruling in county court permitting the estate of Herman Heuckert to be closed. The estate totaled about $40,000. L. O. Wiseman was the executor. Closing of the estate was objected to on the grounds that construction of the will was not clearly defined.

A verdict for $150, secured by Herman Brockhaus, Appleton, against Harvey Neuman, Appleton, was set aside by the supreme court. This case was tried before Judge Theodore Berg, Brockhaus was riding with Neuman when Neuman's car overturned at a curve between Waupun and Appleton and Brockhaus sought damages for injuries which he sustained in this accident.

DOG TAXES COMING IN SLOWLY, SAYS BACHMAN

With one week of the tax collection period already gone, Fred Bachman, city treasurer, reports that dog taxes have been coming in very slowly. State law requires that dog licenses be paid before the first of February, and all licenses not paid on or before the last day of January will be turned over to the police department, according to Mr. Bachman. The tax on male dogs is $2 and $3 for females.

ed States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. Since then except for ships then being designed not for an end to naval competition, in far greater detail he has given to the American delegates his own conception of how this may be accomplished at London.

Under the constitution, the president is charged with conducting the foreign relations of the nation. While he has expressed every confidence in the men he is sending to London, they go as his representatives, and Mr. Hoover is conscious that whether success or failure is in store, the ultimate responsibility will be his.

When he took leave of the delegates today, in no sense did he take leave of the negotiations. He intends to continue to give the problems of the conference a generous part of his daily thought. Before the end is reached, many messages will have passed across the Atlantic, and many decisions bearing on the course of events in London will have been made here in the White House.

These are the purposes of the American delegation as it sails for the naval conference in London, and the purposes of the delegations from the other countries with all of which we have had most friendly preliminary interchanges.

"Too little means of defense gives a nation a feeling of insecurity. Too much gives its neighbors a feeling of insecurity. Our object is to try to find a happy medium that will be mutually satisfactory."

On the presidential calendar the event was classed as social and informal, but it provided opportunity for a parting word of advice about the momentous discussions which are to begin two weeks from today in the British capital.

It now is apparent these discussions may embrace a consideration of further limiting aircraft carriers of a class of ship which has received little attention heretofore in the conference preliminaries. The aircraft carrier provides a floating base for naval airplanes, and already is under certain limitations as a result of the Washington treaty. If further limitation is proposed a London, the United States will be prepared to discuss it.

G. O. P. DIVIDED OVER BOB'S POST

Rift Appears in Ranks of Party Over Appointment to Finance Committee

Washington, D. C. — (AP) New troubles arose today in the senate Republican ranks over the impending reorganization of the party machinery.

The main issue revolves about the place on the finance committee, which shapes the tariff and revenue legislation. The western independents have demanded that Senator La Follette of Wisconsin be given this post.

The appointment of Senator Sackett of Kentucky to be ambassador to Germany left a second vacancy on this committee, and the way seemed clear for La Follette's appointment.

But a faction among the Republicans opposes giving the western independents a place on the powerful finance committee because of their coalition with the Democrats on the tariff bill.

There have been threats of a floor fight if the western independents fail in their drive, but whether the Democrats would help them out is uncertain.

Several days of conference are in prospect before the answer is determined.

Notably, in his conversations last fall with the British prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald, he sought to go behind the technicalities and analyze the more remote causes which stimulate the building of battleships. ## BUNNELL TO HEAD TRADE BOARD AGAIN

Faces No Opposition for Election for Fourth Term

Chicago (AP)—For the first time in the history of the Chicago board of trade—with one notable exception—a member will hold the presidency for four terms.

John A. Bunnell, a member of the exchange since 1891, and president in 1909 and 1927, will be unopposed for election January 6.

The only other to hold the office for more than three terms was the nationally famous "Buckey" Shop" Baker, whose raids upon the buckeyers lack in the nineties drove 110 of them out of the city.

Baker was president of the board of trade five terms and all through the five years continued against the bucket shops. The high light was reached in the last year of Baker's presidency when employees of the exchange and members of the civic federation raided brokerages houses which had refused to follow the trade practices laid down as accepted.

More than 20 years ago Mr. Bunnell, who was then president, appointed a new building for the exchange.

The 41-story building which is now being completed is the result of those plans.

"Go Stick Your Heads In Mud Puddle," Judge Orders

Chicago (AP)—A University of Wisconsin student had his dignity ruffled yesterday. Not only that, but so did four of his fraternity brothers. The judge told them to "go stick your heads in a mud puddle."

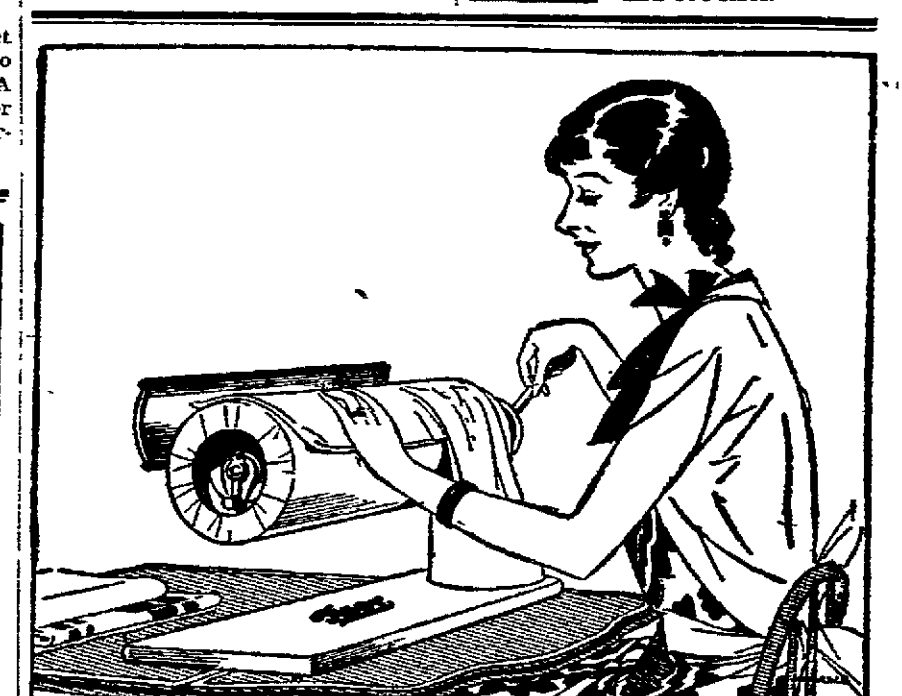

Alex Dunnerstein, 19, who lives at 626 Carroll-ave, Madison, Wis., came to Chicago the other day. With four of his Chicago fraternity brothers, Alex hailed a taxi. The cab driver was pleased. College men always gave tips. They told him to take them to a fraternity house at the University of Chicago. He did.

Four of the brothers got out of the cab and left Alex to pay. Alex reached for his purse and heard a yell—things went tickertape. "Police," yelled the caddy. Alex was puzzled. The four brothers took refuge in the frat house. They even went so far as the clothes closet to hide from the police-calling driver.

Sturdy policemen were used to chasing bandits than conskin cases came to the rescue of the driver. The matter clicked on.

"These so-and-so college men stole my lap-robe," the driver yelled. "What," muttered a cop, "would they want with a lap-robe? This isn't football season."

At the point of guns the cops dragged the brothers from the cloth-

LIONS CLUB SPEAKER - TRACES LIFE CYCLE OF PLANTS, ANIMALS

Animals Are Dependent Up- on Plants, High School Principal Says

The life cycle of plants and their contribution to animal life was outlined Monday afternoon by Frank Younger, principal of McKinley Junior high school, at the luncheon meeting of the Lions club at Conway hotel. Mr. Younger has spent considerable time studying plant and animal life and has written several books on these subjects.

"Animals are far more dependent upon plant life than plants are on animals," Mr. Younger said. "The ability of plants to manufacture foods, through the process of photosynthesis, is the quality which distinguishes plants and animals."

"At most everything we look at seems to have originated from plant life. The meat, bread and other foods, we ate here today came from that source."

"Plants also manufacture oxygen, that substance which gives them their green coloring. With the aid of this they are able to take food from the air, through the photosynthetic process, giving off oxygen to the air in turn."

Mr. Younger traced the history of plant life. He said there are so many different species that it is impossible for scientists to keep an accurate account of them. There are but 200 species mentioned in the Bible, he pointed out. Thus far scientists have a working knowledge of about 250,000 species in the plant kingdom.

"Since the invention of the microscope scientists have been able to enlarge upon this field," he said. "They discovered plants which formerly were invisible to the eye and since that time many of the great mysteries of plant life have been unraveled."

Mr. Younger told of the various places where plants are found, including help which lives at the bottom of the sea; cactus, which lives on deserts and the various kinds of bacteria, both parasitic and saprophytic and those that are found in our gardens, which are the aristocracy of plant life.

A total of 34 arrests were made during December by local police according to the monthly report of George T. Prim, chief of police. Speeders, of which there were seven, led the list of offenders. # KILL MAD DOG AT KIMBERLY AFTER IT CHASES FIVE

Second Outbreak Occurs in Village When Police Dog Is Stricken

After three attempts to attack men had proved unsuccessful, a large police dog was shot and killed at Kimberly Monday noon by Nick Fox, one of the men whom the dog attacked. The dog first went on its rampage when it chased Henry Schene and his two small children into their home. Next he went after Mike Vanderhuden and Nick Fox, who were working in a garage. The men escaped, secured a shotgun and the dog was killed by Fox. The animal was turned over to Constable Frank Van Lieshout, but the head was so badly mutilated by the shot that Mr. Van Lieshout said it would be useless to send it to Madison for examination. It is practically certain that the dog had rabies, officials declared.

Several weeks ago, four dogs were killed and their heads were sent to Madison. The examination resulted in placing the county under a rabies quarantine for 90 days.

Under the quarantine all dogs must be kept tied. Those found loose may be shot by any citizen without penalty of the law. A warning was received Tuesday by Sheriff Fred W. Giese from C. A. Deadman, state veterinarian, who said that he understood that little or no attention is being paid to the quarantine. He asks the sheriff to investigate and attempt to devise a system whereby the quarantine can be made effective. Sheriff Giese is studying the matter.

DEPUTY HEALTH OFFICER ENTERS NEW QUARTERS

Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer, moved into his new quarters in city hall Tuesday. Because of the need of plumbing facilities to make the methylene blue test, recently instituted as a part of the health officer's work, the old stairway room at city hall was refurbished to accommodate Mr. Sanders. A sink, shelves, work bench, and radiator were installed, and new linoleum placed on the floor.

Originally it was planned to enlarge the stairway room so that the entire health office could be moved from its present location, but these plans were abandoned and E. G. Schueler, poor commissioner, and Miss Marie Karsseboom, city nurse, will continue their work in the former health office. The intention to shift the assessor's office to the committee room, and locate the committee room more conveniently near the council chambers also was abandoned.

Royal Belgian Family Received By Pope Pius XI

ONTIFF PAYS SIGNAL HONOR TO PRINCESS

is Special Blessing for Marie Jose Who Will Be Bride Tomorrow

Vatican City — (P) — Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, who tomorrow becomes the bride of Humbert, prince of Piedmont and heir to the Italian throne, was received in private audience this forenoon by Pope Pius XI.

With her were her father, King Albert, her mother, Queen Elizabeth, Prince Leopold and his wife, Princess Astrid, and Prince Charles, her brother, whose title is count of Flanders.

It was the first visit of the Belgian royal family to the pope since 1923, and it was accompanied by the same ceremonial honors which marked the welcome of the Holy See to King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy, Dec. 5.

The royal family went by automobile from the Quirinal palace in Rome, where they are staying, to the Vatican, traversing streets hung with entwined papal and Belgian flags. Commendatore Scavini received them at the doorway of the Vatican City and read an address of welcome.

The Swiss Guards band played the Belgian national anthem and other papal hymns. Commendatore Scavini received them at the doorway of the Vatican City and read an address of welcome.

The Oldtimer Asks

Do You Remember—
"Samplers" were a part of every girl's education?
There probably wasn't a girl in Appleton who could swim or would own up to it if she could?
The few girls or ladies in Appleton who rode a horse used a side saddle and a riding habit?
"Whistling girls and crowing hens always come to some bad end," was flung up at a girl if she dared to try to whistle?
Any girl that would have done any of the thousand and one odd things that nearly every girl does today without attracting any attention would have been in the eyes of the community, a "Tom Boy" or perhaps worse?
Probably almost every thing a girl naturally wanted to do she mustn't do because it wasn't "lady-like."
Nearly every one expected a boy to make himself sick trying to learn to use tobacco but no one expected a girl to?

JUDGE DISMISSES SUIT AGAINST APPLETON MAN

Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday dismissed the suit for $750 brought by the McGeehan Buick company of Green Bay against Albert Selig, Appleton, on a motion for non-suit by Abraham Sigman, attorney for the defendant. Mr. Sigman asked dismissal of the case after the plaintiff had rested its case and the testimony of the defendant was about to be presented. The Green Bay firm charged that Selig had made a contract with it through its agents, Antonio and R. F. Schmitz, for the purchase of a new car. The firm said they agreed to take a second hand car owned by Selig in trade for $200. When delivery of the machine was made, the plaintiff alleged, Selig refused to accept the machine without giving any reason. Selig denied any knowledge of a contract with the Green Bay company.

Seek Convict Involved In Taylor Murder Mystery

San Francisco — (P) — Ouis Heffner, former convict, whose alleged statement that he knew the identity of the slayer of William Desmond Taylor, motion picture director, is scoffed at by District Attorney Burton Fitts of Los Angeles, was sought today by state policemen as a parole violator.
Close upon an announcement by Governor Friend W. Richardson that Heffner had asserted that a motion picture player killed Taylor, came the declaration from Fitts that he was not interested in the alleged clues. Fitts declared that hundreds of such clues had appeared in the course of the murder investigation.
Heffner, who was paroled from Folsom prison during the Richardson administration, is alleged to have confided to the former governor four years ago that he and Edwards Sands, Taylor's valet, went to the Taylor home in Los Angeles on the night of Nov. 20, 1922, and that Sands found Taylor dead. Police authorities say the murder occurred on the night of Feb. 1 or the early morning of Feb. 2, 1922.
Other statements credited to Heffner included one that Taylor was killed because he had been "stooling" on a big narcotics ring of which he was a member. The former convict represented that he and Sands had gone to the Taylor home to deliver narcotics on the night of the murder, and that as they approached the house a woman whom they both recognized, came out of the Taylor home, swept past them and into an automobile.
In another statement Heffner was credited with having said he and Sands went to Taylor's home to deliver an automobile and that the woman came out of the house and spoke to them briefly before going away.
Richardson recently announced that "key witness" in the Taylor case had been found and that the witness could name the killer. This drew accusations from Richardson's political opponents that the announcement was a political move.
The murder of Taylor, a prominent motion picture director, is an official mystery. Sands once was held as a suspect and later released. He was sought a second time, however, but never was located.

CHEMISTS EXAMINE PIECES OF DRILL

Seek Clue to Cause of Fatal Explosion Saturday at Fremont

Investigation into the cause of explosion of a drill which killed one man and maimed another at Fremont, Saturday, rested Tuesday while chemists at Madison examined bits of the drill sent them by District Attorney L. D. Smith, Waupaca. A report from Madison is expected by Waupaca authorities Wednesday.

The dead man is W. D. Hazen, formerly of North Fond du Lac who suffered a fractured skull that caused his death after entrance in a hospital here. William Herrick, the maimed man, is still in the hospital here but his condition is favorable.
Admitting they have no clues which might indicate foul play in the explosion but desirous of setting at rest stories being circulated throughout the county and determine if possible what really caused the explosion, the Waupaca-co authorities opened the investigation in the only possible channel. The accident was unusual, in opinion of the authorities, who discount the theory that explosives might have exploded. The explosion was left in the drill or that it exploded from expansion by the heat or gases which might have formed in the hollow part of the drill.

Beg Pardon! Cab's In Dutch Again

MERCURY DROPS AS COLD WAVE ARRIVES

Fair and Warmer Weather on Menu for This Vicinity Wednesday

A cold wave which sent the mercury down to the zero mark at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning, was ushered into this vicinity by a strong wind from the northwest. The mercury dropped to points as low as 24 degrees below zero at Waupaca, while at Duluth, Minnesota it dropped to 15 degrees below zero.
The cold wave was the first to prevail in this vicinity for two weeks, unseasonable and moderate temperatures having been recorded here during that time. Morning temperatures were recorded here as high as 36 degrees above zero, while the highest noon temperature, reached about a week ago, was 41 degrees above zero.

Skies will be clear and the mercury is due for a slight rise in the next 24 hours, the weatherman says. Winds are shifting in the northwest and west.
At 6 o'clock this morning the mercury registered 2 degrees above zero, while at noon it registered 24 degrees above zero.

STAGE AND SCREEN

One wonders—after seeing and hearing Gloria Swanson in "The Trespasser," at its local premiere at the Fox Theatre yesterday—whether the producer's hasn't introduced in her first all-dialogue United Artists picture, a new era in audible film. For we haven't been able to think of a single parallel to "The Trespasser" in the field of the vocal cinema. Certainly Miss Swanson's independently produced United Artists picture unfolds a technique that is new to the speaking screen. All of which amounts to the most pleasing sort of entertainment.

Popular interest of course focuses on the fact that Miss Swanson talks—and sings—from the screen for the first time. Miss Swanson's voice is a delight. For we haven't been able to think of a single parallel to "The Trespasser" in the field of the vocal cinema. Certainly Miss Swanson's independently produced United Artists picture unfolds a technique that is new to the speaking screen. All of which amounts to the most pleasing sort of entertainment.

MOODYS SPEND REST OF HONEYMOON ON LAND

Los Angeles — (P) — Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Moody, Jr., were here today planning to spend the rest of their honeymoon on dry land while awaiting completion of the furnishing of their apartment in San Francisco.
Mr. Moody, formerly Helen Wills, the Berkeley, Calif. girl who won the women's world tennis title, said "we will return to San Francisco next week to inspect the apartment. In the meantime, I expect to play a little tennis."
The young couple arrived at San Pedro aboard the 40-foot yawl Galatea yesterday, after cruising as far south as Ensenada, Mexico. They were married in Berkeley, Dec. 23, and sailed from San Pedro Christmas day.
"I enjoyed every meal aboard the Galatea," Mrs. Moody said regarding her "sailing ability." "But it got so rough yesterday we had to discard the sails and depend on the engines."

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh G. Lacey and Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Walsh returned Monday from a two weeks vacation in Texas.

COLLEGE RESUMES CLASS WORK EARLY TUESDAY MORNING

Students Buckle Down to Three Weeks of Study Before Examinations

With the resumption of classes at 8 o'clock this morning, Lawrence college officially closed its 1929-30 holiday season, and students prepared for three weeks of study preparatory to the opening of their final examination period late this month.
Incoming trains and busses all day yesterday brought students back to Appleton from their homes. Those who live too far from their college to make advisable any kind of trip during vacation remained in Appleton throughout the holidays, but by far the greatest majority of students spent the recess in their own towns.
Returning students bring tales of holiday gatherings and social events which presage the opening of a brilliant winter social season on the Lawrence campus. The press of studies during the next few weeks will not be sufficiently strong to prevent campus fraternities and sororities from scheduling their weekend parties. Many Greek letter groups prefer to hold their formal dancing parties during the winter months, and the majority of these have been set for January and February week ends.

The last guard of returning students is expected to arrive in Appleton this evening, as those without Saturday classes accepted the opportunity to spend another day at their homes.

VALUE OF DOLLAR CHANGES, BUT WHY?

That's What Stable Money Association Is Trying to Determine

Winter Park, Fla. — (P) — Norman Lombard of New York executive vice president of the Stable Money association, in an address prepared for delivery today recommended research to determine what causes fluctuations in the value of the fundamental business unit, the dollar. He deplored the fact that the value of the dollar is fluctuating, and that it is not a stable unit, the dollar. Instead of "an emotional approach to the question of permanent prosperity," he said.
Coming here to appear at the second annual institute of statesmanship at Rollins college, Mr. Lombard said:
"Find what causes fluctuations in the value of the fundamental business unit, the dollar. Then diffuse this knowledge as widely as possible among the moulders of public opinion. Then demand that public officials use their powers to promote stable conditions. We need to lop off moribund ideas and substitute new ones for them."
More than one hundred persons are attending the institute which will continue through Jan. 11. This year's topic is "The Formation of Public Opinion."
In opening the meeting Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins and chairman of the institute, said he considered commercialism the greatest menace to the freedom of the press.
"The terms on which advertisements are taken tend to commercialize the whole tone of newspapers until editors are afraid to say what they think," he said.

SPECIALLY MADE RAYON TAKES DIFFERENT DYES

Wilmington, Del. — (P) — Rayon making has advanced to where it is possible to put a piece successively into two dyes and have some threads take one color while the remaining fibers take only the other. This cannot be done with any piece of rayon, but only with that specially woven.
The color selectivity is due, says a report of the research department of the Du Pont Company, to development of varied methods of making rayon, particularly one which employs acetic acid, the substance which causes cider to turn to vinegar.
The acetate variety takes certain dyes which other threads resist, so that by weaving two kinds of rayon threads unusual dye tricks can be performed.

British Storm Gives New Impetus To Channel Tunnel

BY MILTON BRONNER

London — For about seven days in the early part of December English people were strongly reminded of the fact that, after all, England is part of an island set in the seas that are stormy in winter. English Channel, the result was that London newspapers reached Paris and no Paris papers reached London. Furthermore, all mail service between the two countries was paralyzed.
The event has given a great boost to the proposed channel tunnel. The proposal to dig a tunnel under the English Channel, linking up England and France, has been mooted for 60 years, but has always been vetoed by English defense boards, which always had a horror of the possibility of an invasion of England by hostile troops.
But modern gunnery and poison gases have lessened this objection and business men are clamoring for something that will not interfere with the running of the mail. It is pointed out that, had the tunnel been in existence, passengers and mails would have been carried between London and Paris without any interruption whatsoever.

REAL ROMANCE IS BACK OF PRINCE'S COMING MARRIAGE

Church-State Treaty
Smooths Way for 12-year
Love Match

BY MILTON BRONNER

Brussels — ".....so the handsome boy prince and the pretty princess fell in love. It was a deep and abiding love, which lasted through the years, so that finally their royal parents gave their consent and they were happily married...."

Royalty is at pretty much of a discount in Europe, but good old-fashioned romance is not. That is why all the Belgians and all the Italians are looking forward with the keenest excitement to the marriage Wednesday of Princess Marie-Jose and Prince Umberto.

The plain people, who have to man the trenches in times of war and pay the taxes in times of peace, have come to look rather cynically on most royal marriages. But here, they are sure, is a love story in real life, instead of the usual state wedding decreed by diplomatic gray-beards.

WERE CHILDHOOD FRIENDS
This romance began when the Crown Prince of Italy and the only daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians were children. It has stood the test of time and distance. It has withstood obstacles. It was brought to culmination when Marie-Jose stamped her pretty foot and declared to a lady of her court that she could not marry the man of her choice she would enter a convent.

Umberto, Prince of Piedmont, heir to the throne of Italy, often is called the Prince of Wales of his country. He is tall, handsome, well educated. He is religious, soldierly, democratic. He is brave; his calm demeanor when an Italian tried to assassinate him in Brussels proved that.

He is the only son of the Italian royal couple, born on September 15, 1904. When the Prince of Piedmont was about to celebrate his twelfth birthday, his royal and soldierly father was at the front with his troops. The House of Piedmont always has been a martial home. It was the boy's great grandfather, Victor Emmanuel II, who brought about a united Italy. So the lad's mother was not at all surprised at the answer she got when she asked him what he wanted as a birthday present.

"I wish to join father at the front where our soldiers are fighting."
HE WON PERMISSION
To his intense joy, he was allowed to go. In his boyish scrawl, he sent back a letter to his grandmother, the Dowager Queen Margherita, telling her that the artillery fire did not scare him and gravely assuring her that "father was very brave."

He came into public and popular notice the next year when a radical paper of Rome, started a Christmas tree fund for the poor of the Eternal City. Little Umberto promptly emptied out his savings bank and sent the total—ten dollars—to a paper whose policies often brought him into criticism of the government and the royal family.

By 1921 the main lines of his education had been laid down at home by private tutors and the boy was then enrolled as a private soldier in the First Grenadier Regiment of Sardinia. After three months he was made a corporal and after six months a sergeant. To perfect himself as a young officer, he was enrolled in 1923, when he was of age, in the Military Academy in Turin. He has made that ancient capital of Piedmont, where his family

In True Romance

reigned long before there was a united Italy, his residence ever since. TO BE BRIDE'S HOME, TOO
He has his own palace there and it is thither that he will take his bride when they settle down as young married people. He now has an allowance from the state of two million lire. This will be raised to 3,000,000 after his wedding.

Princess Marie-Jose, the only daughter of the King and Queen of the Belgians, was born in Ostend on August 4, 1906. During the terrible war years when most of her native land was overrun by the invading German armies and when her father was literally in the trenches with his troops, Marie-Jose was educated at the Ursuline Convent at Dinant, Belgium.

It was in 1917 that a decisive thing took place in the lives of Prince Umberto and Princess Marie-Jose. The boy, who was 13, had gone with his parents for a holiday trip to a place near Venice.

The Belgian Queen, who had had worked so hard in the hospitals near the front, was compelled to take a rest. She, too, went to Venice with her little daughter, then 11. The dark-haired royal boy fell in love so the story goes, with the fair-haired Belgian princess, who was his playmate through the golden summer days.

The wonderful vacation ended. The boy went back to Rome and his studies. The girl went to the Institute of the Anzianata near Florence, Italy. They corresponded and after 1923 the two royal families began exchanging visits. Nine years after their first meeting, the young man and the young woman spent another wonderful holiday together, this time at the royal Italian hunting lodge at San Rossore. They found their school day idyll had remained unchanged. They were acknowledged lovers.

ROYAL FAMILY IS DEVOUT
But there was a grave obstacle. The royal family of Belgium is devoutly Catholic. The House of

BLAINE WOULD SEE INDIA INDEPENDENT

Introduces Resolution Recognizing Country in Free State

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—A resolution calling for recognition of India as an independent country was introduced Monday by Senator John J. Blaine of Boscombe, Wis.

The President is authorized to recognize foreign countries, but the Senate is always concerned with such recognitions, for it must confirm any nominations made by the President for ministers or ambassadors to such countries, and must ratify any treaties with such countries.

Similar resolutions have been introduced in the House of Representatives and in the Senate for the recognition of the "Republic of Georgia" as an independent country. Georgia is one of the Soviet republics, a member of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics, but an anti-Bolshevik party there which gained some support in this country sought to have it made an independent country.

Senator Blaine has long been an advocate of independence for India, and spoke in this connection while the Senate was considering the ratification of the Kellogg-Briand treaties to outlaw war.

A virtual revolt has been going on in India, with a declaration of independence planned.

tion that Mussolini is a Duke in the Italian nobility by creation of King Victor Emmanuel III.

Princess Marie-Jose is an expert tennis player, and will have opportunity to match her skill in Alpine sports with her future husband, because she is enthusiastic about skiing. She is an accomplished musician, having studied violin under the famous virtuoso, Ysaye. In addition to French and Flemish, the languages of her country, she speaks excellent German, Italian and English.

With moderation THE GRIM SPECTRE of that future shadow may be avoided

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence, if you would maintain the modern figure of fashion

Fashion revels in the soft, enchanting curves of the modern figure. Don't sacrifice that graceful contour by permitting your eyes to be bigger than your stomach. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When tempted to treat yourself too well, when your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain the modern, alluringly-rounded figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste.

*Be Moderate!... Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

BRAKES that will Hold in WINTER

On slippery streets the slightest difference in the adjustment of brakes means a skid—perhaps a costly one. It requires a delicate and experienced ability to adjust brakes for safe Winter driving. ADD FAMOUS SAYINGS
To Alderman McGillan of the Fourth ward must go the laurel wreath for the most original reason why aldermanic government should be continued another year after next April. Opponents of a special election in February thought hard and strenuously for plausible arguments to sustain their position, but out of this welter of hard thinking nothing was evolved that even compared with the originality and exalted logic of Mr. McGillan's plea.

Here is the pithy observation of the Fourth ward representative:
"If a city manager should go into office now with this heavy debt facing him, both he and the supporters of that form of government would capitalize on the debt, and point this out as a weakness of the aldermanic system. I think we will do better to postpone for another year a change in government."

Mr. McGillan's pathetic plea is deserving of immortality despite the fact that he didn't convince himself. He just couldn't turn over the city government to a city manager with a debt of $210,000 staring him in the face. The very idea was horrifying. How much better it would be to let the aldermen continue for another year and give the manager a debt of $250,000.

The very suggestion that a city manager might find something to criticize in the way the aldermen ran the city when the government is turned over to him was offensive to Mr. McGillan's sensitive nature. And if he should make capital of it! The thought is too staggering.

Mr. McGillan deserves well of the friends of aldermanic government. As chief spokesman he has uttered words of wisdom that should rally support to the cause. No need to call-in speakers from the outside to present the cause of aldermanic government when such talent can be found at home. No better argument than Mr. McGillan's could be presented by any man.

AN ADMIRAL'S VIEWPOINT
Rear Admiral Bradley E. Fiske, U. S. N., retired, is quoted as saying that the forthcoming London naval conference will be "the greatest game played for the greatest stakes that the world has ever known." He is not opposed to reduction of naval armaments, says Admiral Fiske. But he remarks: "After all, the nations of the world are but big business firms, the only difference being in size. Big business firms do everything they can to circumvent each other, and it is right that they should."

Here we find an excellent and estimable admiral running true to form. No admiral can be expected to sympathize with arms reduction, or with the spirit that demands arms reduction. An admiral's job is to fight. He fights with warships. Naturally he wants good warships and plenty of them. It is natural to be loyal to one's profession and to be swayed by its character and requirements. Thus an admiral, even when retired, cannot see war and peace, and their instrumentalities, as disinterested citizens see them.

In this case the very premises assumed by the admiral are wrong. The nations of the world are more, a great deal more, than "big business firms." They are concerned with many things more vital, fundamental and permanent than cut-throat business. They are interested in buying and selling things to each other, but much more in getting along amicably with each other. Right now they are especially concerned with finding some way to avert such military and naval insanity as made this world a hell from 1914 to 1918. They are interested in peace, family life, art, knowledge, religion, high ideals of many kinds. They are disillusioned as to their chances of obtaining these blessings by building more and better warships for admirals and diplomats to play with.

DUPLICATED EFFORT
"It may be possible soon," reads a new story, "to quench the thirst for knowledge by sitting in a comfortable chair at home and turning the radio dial." A "radio-university" is proposed. The project is far enough along to have been discussed by an advisory committee with Secretary of the Interior Wilbur. It could be achieved, the promoters think, with a $10,000,000 endowment. What would be taught? Reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, history and kindred subjects for children, science, literature, English, current events, etc., for adults.

It happens that there are public schools maintained to teach such subjects to children, and children are obliged to go to school to learn them. Why duplicate effort? Much could be done for adults by means of radio. Yet isn't the prospect set forth above too optimistic? Is there any such royal road to learning as absorbing it painlessly while leaning back in an overstuffed rocking chair? There is a fallacy here which appears in a great many ambitious plans for instruction by radio and other easy methods. This is the belief, in spite of ages of failure, that people can be educated merely by telling them things.

"Education" means not "pouring in" but "drawing out." The true educational process draws out the learner's mind, unfolding his mental resources. Reaction, as every high school student learns, must be equal to action. The learner must reach out for what is given him, and by active effort connect it with his own knowledge and experience. Otherwise he makes no progress, gets no practical benefit, and all he has for his listening is "words, words, words."

RADIO IN RUSSIA
The largest radio broadcasting plant is not in the United States. Neither is it in England or Germany. It is in Russia, just outside of Moscow, and has a capacity of 100,000 watts, of which it uses 60,000 regularly. The maximum power used in this country, except for occasional experiments, is 50,000 watts. The Russian station was designed and built by a Soviet electrical trust, and is used by the council of trade unions.

Americans have not realized how strongly Russia has gone in for radio. There are many big stations there, and more broadcasting than in any other country of Europe. For progress in radio development and use, Russia is second only to the United States. Here is an interesting phase. "There are receivers placed on street corners, in schools and in village assembly halls, and the programs are more educational than in this country. Few sets are privately owned, the avowed purpose being to make radio available first to masses of listeners."

Russia, in her new zeal for instruction and propaganda, has seized upon the most effective means provided by modern civilization for reaching great numbers of people over vast areas. This is one of the most important factors in the Russian awakening. It is also serious to a number of European countries trying to ward off bolshevik propaganda.

HOOVER SHAKES HANDS
President Hoover shook hands with 6,000 fellow-citizens on New Year's Day, and did not carry his arm in a sling the next day, as some of his predecessors have had to do. Mr. Hoover is fortunate in a strong physique. It is likely, too, that he has mastered the technique of public handshaking, which requires that the hero of such a marathon shall grab the other fellow's hand firmly before the other fellow closes on his own hand. It is something like getting the drop on a rival gunman. Particular credit, however, is given to Mr. Hoover's daily exercising system. The president really exercises, and his favorite means is the medicine ball. A few millions of his fellow-citizens might profit by his example.

William the Conqueror ordered that all persons, under severe penalty of severe punishment, should extinguish their fires and lights and go to bed at the ringing of a bell every night at eight o'clock.
The word "sandwich" is derived from the Earl of Sandwich, who was the originator of this form of food.
The temperature of molten lava is estimated from about 2,200 degrees to 3,600 degrees Fahrenheit.
The custom of wearing mustaches originated in the time that the Christians were driving the Moors from Spain.
In the Sierra Nevada mountains in California snowfall ranges from 19 to 15 feet.
Bloomers are named after Amy Bloomer, who was the first woman to wear this type of dress.
Macaroni originated in Italy and was invented by the cook of a wealthy nobleman of Palermo.

PRESIDENT FILLMORE
Millard Fillmore, 15th president of the United States, was born on Jan. 7, 1800, in Cayuga county, N. Y.
Although he had little opportunity for education as a youth, Fillmore undertook the study of law, and was admitted to the bar in 1823. His practice, of the profession, chiefly at Buffalo, continued for 21 years.
Fillmore's political life began in 1828 with his being elected to the state legislature as an Anti-mason. He served three terms and then was elected to Congress in 1832 as a Whig.
In 1848, Fillmore was elected vice president on the ticket with Zachary Taylor. Upon the president's death, Fillmore succeeded him. The change in administration was marked by the early passage of the Compromise Measures. He died March 8, 1854.

THAT GALLSAC GRUMBLE
The death rate from appendicitis, has increased nearly a third in the last 10 years in Washington and Oregon, according to Dr. G. A. Dowling of the former state. He remarks that physicians may lay the blame to neglect and delay of proper treatment by cultists of various kinds, "but search for our own possible errors is in order." No wisecracking now, ladies and gentlemen of the radio audience. This far western doctor only scratches the surface. Let us dig under.
Cultist thrive and bloom in the golden west. Any nut with a line, a fair command of sales psychology and a good pitch can make a soft thing of it almost anywhere within a day's ride of the romantic Pacific. And does. The laws, if any, regulating the healing business, are extremely liberal out where the sun sets. Something about the climate. I reckon; that's the only way to account for the strange deeds and practices which staid school teachers, retired business men, former authors, nurses with nervous breakdown and eke superannuated homeopaths from the east acquire after a short sojourn in the land of the lemon.
"Neglect and delay of proper treatment by cultists." Suppose it is your appendix—or as an alternative the base of your lung. Of course you want to have at least a doctor's opinion about it, but if your family, relations, friends neighbors of attendants think all this dying of appendicitis or pneumonia is just imagination you'll have some difficulty getting the opinion or advice of a regular doctor, even in the effete east.
But you may have a nice whopping, brimming beaker of castor oil or something, if you like. Dr. Dowling doesn't say a word about castor oil. But I'm telling you what I think about it. I think the castor oil or other cathartic so commonly resorted to when appendicitis is developing in the early stage of "indigestion" or "bellyache" is the chief danger, and mere neglect or delay is comparatively nothing to worry about.

Drs. J. O. Bower and J. H. Clark of Pennsylvania also find an increase in the mortality of acute appendicitis in the last 10 years, and these expert witnesses present facts indicating that 11,630 patients die in the course of a year as the result of the giving of laxatives in the presence of acute appendicitis. So when or if you have a regular bellyache and no fooling, cite some of these cheerful statistics when the family or neighborhood Mrs. Gamp bustles in with the best of intentions and a pint of castor oil arctic, and cite 'em picturesquely if it doesn't hurt too much.
Of course you don't see, and so I'm telling you, that any kind of physic or enema inevitably stirrings up in the system, and if there happens to be a bit of an upsurge among the colon bacilli there, or perhaps among some invading streptococci, why, you'll have the marauders all over the place in a few hours, and that means peritonitis. Maybe even peritonitis doesn't mean anything to you; well, in old times they called it inflammation of the bowels—and in old times it was almost as popular as castor oil.
But what has all this to do with that gallsac grumble? Quite a lot. You can scarcely realize how great a relief it is to a doctor confronted with such a grumble, to get the appendix out of the picture before he commences operations—I mean investigation of the gallsac.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Canned Physic
Please print my recipe in your column. One pound of dates, 1 pound of figs, 3 ounces of ground senna leaves, and 1 can of caro syrup to moisten. Put dates and figs thru grinder and mix all ingredients thoroughly, then keep in mason jars. A teaspoonful every evening. I guarantee will do the trick. Many who suffer from constipation praise this. (Mrs. G. S.)
Answer—Senna leaves are comparatively harmless, as physics go. Some persons chew the leaves, or take a dose of senna tea, or take the powdered senna in the form of compound licorice powder, for long periods without evident harm. The addition of the fruits and syrup makes a good home medicine if such medicine must be used. Seems to me that any one who can get along with such a physic ought to be able to make a declaration of independence and leave the control of the alimentary canal entirely to nature.
Good Food
What essentials for the body are contained in bran, whole wheat and milk? (Mrs. F. A.)
Answer—Whole wheat is wheat before the miller has removed the bran. Wheat and milk contain nearly all the necessary food elements, also some vitamins, yet a diet restricted to these items would not adequately nourish a man alive. Wheat and milk diet is inferior to wheat and meat, in actual animal experiments. Unfortunately, there is little or no available evidence from nutrition experiments on human subjects. We ought to make all state's prisoners available to the doctors for nutrition experiments. You should certainly include plenty of bread or other wheat products, both whole wheat and refined flour, and liberal daily rations of milk and its products, in your diet, along with reasonable quantities of fresh vegetables, fruits and meats.
Sheets Cold Consolation These Nights
Three weeks ago I sent for your calory sheets and have not had an answer. Please send me instruction for reducing weight. (Mrs. A. B.)
Answer—I have no calory sheets. I do not advise reduction of weight. Give your age, height and weight, inclose stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask whether you should try to reduce and if so what instructions I can give you.

FLASHES FROM HOLLYWOOD

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Now that Producer Edwin Carewe is going ahead with plans to remake "The Spoilers" as a talkie, movie old-timers are recalling the excitement with which the old Selig forces greeted the author's demand of $2,500 for the screen rights to his novel.
Rex Beach's price at the time was considered exorbitant, and after months of bargaining a compromise gave the author royalties instead of a flat purchase price.
The picture, an elaborate nine-reeler, opened April 11, 1914, at the Strand on Broadway, the theater which was the screen's first challenge to the legitimate stage of New York.
Enormously successful, it made famous its cast, including William Farnum, Thomas Santschi, Wheeler Oakman and Bess Eytton, while Beach's royalties rose to staggering figures over a period of years in which re-issues of the film were shown.
In 1923, a second silent version was made, this time with Milton Sills in the brawny leading role. Who will take the part in Carewe's production has not yet been announced, nor in fact, has any of the cast.

JOTTINGS
Sparks at random from the grinding movie wheels:
Vivienne Segal, stage singer here for talkies, has completed three pictures without being photographed in black-and-white film. . . . She's in "Song of the West," "Golden Dawn," and "Bride of the Regiment," all in color.
Stuart Erwin, "dumb" athletic student of "Sweetie," will be Helen Kane's boob-poon-puh-doo in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," to be made in the east.
The writer of "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby," the song which helped the "Blackbirds of 1928" to linger long on Broadway, is "going Hollywood." . . . Dorothy Fields, daughter of Lew and Weber and Fields fame, has been signed as a talkie song-writer. . . .
GOOD IN EVIL
Lila Lee, who fared not so well in silent movies as a sweet little leading lady, has assumed new talkie fields this past year. . . . Among her roles have been three as the sweetheart of gangsters or cops in murder stories. . . .

The sale of toys was greater this year than ever before, according to holiday statistics. Father simply must be entertained.

A BYSTANDER IN WASHINGTON

BY HERBERT PLUMMER
Washington—Bill Borah will not be the only United States senator found on the bridge paths at Rock Creek park early every morning from now on.
For Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada is again in the saddle.
Christmas morning Senator Oddie was summoned to the stables at his hotel in Washington. A steward directed him to a stall where he saw a magnificent hunter.
"Looks like the old boy I saw take that wide jump down at Norfolk last month," he remarked.
"So it does, sir," said the steward.
The senator stood around for a few moments admiring the animal. His gaze strayed to the top of the stall. There he read his name and just below, that of the horse—Lumberjack. He turned to the smiling steward, who said:
"Mrs. Oddie, sir, bids me wish you merry Christmas, and hopes that he suits you."

ENTHUSIASTIC
It wasn't long before the senator was on Lumberjack in Rock Creek park. By the time he had returned to the hotel stables his enthusiasm was boundless.
Now he has arranged that two hours of every day will be spent astride Lumberjack. Winter and summer, regardless of the weather, he will ride from 8 to 10 o'clock every morning.
Senator Oddie is an expert horseman, although he has not ridden regularly for years. When 16 years old he was a cowpuncher in Nebraska and chasing wild mustangs for diversion. He wouldn't attempt to say how many mustangs he has broken in, for there are too many. For three years before going to Nevada the senator was a member of a cavalry troop in New Jersey, and had the reputation of being one of the roughest riders in the outfit.
He has hunted for gold all over Nevada on horseback, although with the advent of the automobile he substituted a stripped car for his horse. He could cover more ground in less time by motor.

TO PROTECT HEALTH
Lumberjack's master looks to him to see that he keeps fit as he goes about being a United States senator. It was poor health that caused him to quit the east for the west during his youth, and since he has guarded his health carefully.
Mrs. Oddie's gift to her husband is a thoroughbred. He was purchased from the stables of one of the oldest families in Virginia, and has won innumerable prizes as a hunter and jumper.
Incidentally, Lumberjack's arrival at the Wardman Park stables makes the third mount of distinguished men to be quartered there.
Secretary Stimson's horse is there, and Senator Borah keeps his charger in a stall adjacent to that of Lumberjack's.

BARBS

You really have been visited by the Christmas spirit if you can smile when you get that notice from the bank that your account has been overdrawn 3 cents.
He who flights and runs away usually is caught by a traffic cop anyway and given a ticket for speeding resisting an officer and careless driving.
Vitamins have been found in hash. But then you just knew they would be.
Great Britain insulted the Soviet government the other day. Proving that simply nothing is impossible.
The art of conversation is dying out, says a magazine writer. He ought to go and look up somebody who has just had an operation.
The number of stories of wives shooting their husbands is increasing. The ladies apparently have forgotten that there is such a thing as a rolling pin.
The Eskimo uses fish hooks for money, we are told. Say, aren't those fellows some relation to the Scotch?

CARBON MONOXIDE DANGER CORRECTED BY NEW DISCOVERY

Johns Hopkins Professor Discovers Means of Mixing Oxygen With Poison

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press
New York—Monday's announcement from Johns Hopkins university that a means has been discovered to eliminate carbon monoxide from motor exhausts comes at a moment when the health departments of nearly every large city in the United States are concentrating on this problem. Health officials of New York city recently began analyses of the air in the city streets, seeking the carbon monoxide content, as a preliminary to some kind of a protective or remedial campaign.

Here and in other cities was the mounting record of hundreds of deaths annually, and authentic medical testimony that these accumulating poisons were fouling the air and endangering public health. In its bearing on municipal health problems and public safety in general, the clean cut report from Johns Hopkins that this outlaw gas has been tamed is regarded as a scientific announcement of great public importance.

Dr. J. C. W. Frazer, Johns Hopkins professor of chemistry, discover of the method which makes a closed garage safe for democracy, has for many years been known as one of America's foremost authorities in the field of catalysis, and it was by the use of a catalyst that he learned to make carbon monoxide behave. A catalyst, the chemist explains, is in the subatomic world what Leo F. Flynn or Bill Jacobs are in the boxing world—they are managers and introducers who bring together aloof elements of any weight or class.

JUST NEEDS OXYGEN
Carbon monoxide, issuing from a motor exhaust and occasionally killing somebody, needed just a touch of oxygen to become as harmless as a church warden. This oxygen was available in the air, but wasn't even on speaking terms with carbon monoxide. Dr. Frazer's catalyst lured an atom of oxygen from the air, teamed it up with the carbon monoxide and the resulting carbon dioxide was safe for breathing.

One may close the garage doors, turn on the engine, go to sleep under the car and live to tell the tale.
The catalyst—and Dr. Frazer does not tell what it is—is like the old time bartender who never took a drink. It sets up new chemical equations, but never takes any part in them.

Like many other hard-boiled citizens, carbon monoxide found an outlet for its violence in the big war.
But, in this case, the scientists stepped up its killing propensities instead of removing them. If carbon monoxide can be made to mix with chlorine it is just like a very tough gangster getting hold of some bad whiskey. Using a catalyst, the chemists teamed up these two and the result was the deadly phosgene gas. In this case, porous carbon was used to unite them.

Dr. Frazer, before and after the war was engaged in profound studies of the still mysterious phenomena of catalysis and his work, even during the war, was to neutralize poison gas, rather than to make it. A Hes-ian among chemical processes, catalysis works on either side. Sailors were being killed in gun turrets by carbon monoxide. At this time, Dr.
Frazer and others at work on this problem used soda, lime, potassium, permanganate and nickel salts for catalyzers in gas masks. Finely divided metals are good catalyzers, including nickel, mercury, uranium and platinum.

Among American chemists, there has been intense concentration on catalysis for the last five years, not only in safeguarding industry but in the development of magical processes. German and French chemists have been using catalyzers to perfect a synthetic motor fuel to free them from American petroleum.

GREEN BAY REFORMATORY NOW HAS 677 INMATES

There was an increase of about 100 inmates at Green Bay reformatory last year, according to E. M.
Garrow, local representative of the University of Wisconsin extension division, which is carrying on an extensive program of educational instruction at the institution.

There now are 677 inmates in the reformatory, 65 of whom are sleeping in special cots in corridors due to lack of cells, according to Mr. Garrow. About 35 inmates have been moved to the prison farm at Oneida.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough.
It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Then you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germs laden phlegm and eases chest distress in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex.
It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Park Ranger Tells of Dangerous Life

YELLOWSTONE, Wyo.—In a job which requires everything of a man, Park Ranger Milton D. Bradshaw found himself slipping. The story of his difficulties, and how he met them and overcame them, holds interest for men and women, alike, and is told in his own vivid words below:

"The life we lead here in the Park is a strenuous one—the long, exhausting ski trips often requiring ten to fifteen hours of the hardest kind of labor. A man must be in the very best physical condition to last in this winter work, and husky as I am, I found myself losing out, due principally to my inability to sleep well at night, even though dog-tired. That coupled with all-morning headaches had me very worried.

Enemy revealed

"Finally, after consulting a physician, I decided to cut out caffeine beverages and try the thirty-day test of Postum. Thank you, that I did. The initial tryout came one cold, blustery night when I arrived at the station wet, cold, and dead-tired from an all-day trip through the snow. A steaming hot cup of Postum surely hit the right spot, and that night for the first time in weeks, I slept as a tired man should. Long before the thirty days were up, I was fit as a fiddle, sleeping like a log every night and feeling like singing in the mornings—and actually doing it."

Your own enemy

Perhaps you know what it is to go to bed dog-tired, and not be able to sleep. Perhaps you know those all-morning headaches. Many a man and woman is all too familiar with these troubles, and the damage they do to a good day's work. The pity of it is that most people don't realize that the cause may lie in drinks containing caffeine—so they go on taking them just the same.

It may not have occurred to you that caffeine beverages could cause your own wakeful hours—but try Ranger Bradshaw's experiment! Eliminate caffeine-containing drinks from your diet. Drink Postum instead, for thirty days. Then take stock of your health!

You'll call this test the wisest you ever made. Returns will show in sounder sleep, increased energy and better work. You'll find yourself getting more out of life!

The answer?—Postum contains no caffeine. It is made from whole wheat and bran, skillfully roasted and blended. Nothing here to cause sleeplessness! Nothing to bring on headaches, "nerves," or indigestion.

Nothing here but wholesome deli-ciousness. And we mean deliciousness.
Prove it! Add milk or cream to a cup of hot Postum, and note the rich, brown color—and the distinctive flavor. Two million Postum users will tell you you're sure to enjoy it!

Your grocer has Postum in two forms—Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup, and Postum Cereal, prepared by boiling. Both cost less than most other mealtime drinks—only one-half cent a cup. Order today —serve Postum to the whole family at dinner tomorrow! © 1930, G. F. Corp.

FRENCH IN CLEVER MOVE ON TARIFF

duty is imposed against American automobiles, plants are built in France by Americans and employment is given to the French workingman. It is reported that General Motors has bought a factory into Coutancy, one of the biggest French automobile companies. The industry in France has been suffering from disorganization as there are twice as many automobile companies in France as there are in the United States. A period of mergers and consolidations is likely to ensue abroad with American capital playing a leading part.

It is not yet clear how the tariff would affect the important auto France of automobile parts and accessories, but it is believed that ultimately the French will have a tariff that will make it difficult for the American manufacturers to compete abroad except in certain classes of automobiles.

A clear field has been given for consideration of the tariff bill in the senate, and while Senator Borah hopes to see the measure in a reference within a month the chances are the bill will not be ready for the president's signature much before April. The real fight on rates will come in conference with considerable debate afterwards in both houses on what the conference committee reports.

DELICATE QUESTION

The element of foreign opinion on American tariff making is rather a delicate subject because foreign governments cannot very well take up their grievances with the senate directly and most of them are hesitant.

PREFERS PRISON TERM TO HIS STIFF NECK

Chicago—(AP)—The cure for stiff neck, Samuel Ginsberg has figured out, is one to 14 years in the penitentiary. Ginsberg having jumped a $10,000 bond after conviction for cash-ing stolen travelers' checks, surrendered yesterday.

"For four months," said Ginsberg,
"I have been twisting my neck, looking over my shoulder to see if anyone was after me. My neck got so sore I decided to give myself up."

Judge Otto Kerner prescribed the penitentiary sentence.

nowadays to make representations because they want to apply the protective tariff principle themselves.
This means that protests are coming from commercial organizations and industries in foreign countries which would be directly affected. As the United States develops a larger and larger foreign trade, however, the imposition of tariff duties is likely to be practiced by foreign governments as a revenue raising proposition, because American production is so much cheaper on account of quantity effort and labor saving devices that in some instances a moderate tariff can be imposed and the American manufacturer can still sell at a profit.

The French tariff, of course, that their proposed duty on American automobiles of 25 per cent has any other purpose than to protect home industry, but the belief is general that the rate will not go into effect or that it will be materially reduced if the French manufacturers of various products are better than has been indicated thus far in the schedules of the pending senate bill.

John J. Dolan of Milwaukee is visiting relatives here.

WHEN Sue reached the top of the stairs she noticed that some moving crates stood in the hall, and there was a sound of hammering coming from the Clinger office.

"Martin Clinger is closing shop and moving out," Miss Parsons answered her questions. "I don't know where he's going and I guess it doesn't matter, but I think we are through with him."

Jack, calling Sue into his office for some dictation, spoke about him, too, and Sue told him the unpleasant episode of the ring.

"He's been too obvious. He and Foster won't bother us any more," he ventured. "It's better for him to get out. He'll lay low and so will his hoodlums."

"What about Sarah's check? He has it and how will she get it back?" Sue asked. "She thought she could corner him by getting him to pay the bills for a party for the women at the home. He'd pocket some of the money and we could check up on him."

"Sarah would be a good detective," he agreed. "But her stunt's miscarried now. He knows you're asking for the return of the money and have her own party."

"Do you know Sue, I'm beginning to see why Dad is so crazy about law. It's getting into me, especially a case where I have to fight for something. I wish you could come over to the courthouse some time. Maybe you can! I think you'd enjoy it."

"Oh, I know I would," Sue wanted to add that she would enjoy anything if he went along, whether it was crossing a burning desert or scrubbing a kitchen floor.

"I wish old Harry was as happy about going into the factory with his father," Jack suddenly grew more serious. "He'll spend most of his time playing golf and polo and poker and people will say that he's a rich man's son who doesn't care about anything but spending money, and it isn't true. He'd be satisfied with work he liked."

"But what can we do about it?" Unconsciously Sue used the plural pronoun.

"Not much I guess. If he had something or somebody to work for maybe he'd find a dramatic climax in a steel bolt, but he certainly won't now."

As Sue left the office, her heart felt lighter than usual. She stopped for her father and talked gaily all the way home. When Sarah called to tell her that John Foster had returned her check, uncashed, she nodded wisely.

"Jack says that he would be cautious now. But Sarah, what about your engagement to... to Ted?"

"Oh, that! I was pretending so Gertrude wouldn't carry on his shoulder and win him with her tears. Just to save him, Sue," she said in a casual tone.

"Then you're saved," Sue answered equally casual, "because she has left town. He doesn't need protection."

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

WHILE Mister Bear kept riding 'round and making snow tracks on the ground, his owner kept right after him shouting, "Hey, there, stop! The wheels will slip in that deep snow and, if they do, right down you'll go. Don't ask for sympathy from me if you do take a flop."

The Tynites, still behind a tree, decided they could safely be right out where they could plainly watch the very funny chase. "Come on," said Scouty, as he ran. "I think we can help the man catch Mister Bear. We might as well join in this funny race."

So, out they scampered, one by one, to take part in the thrilling fun. The bear man saw the happy lads and shouted, "Hi, there, boys! Please help me make my big bear stop. Excite him so he'll take a flop. Perhaps he'll get befuddled if you make a lot of noise."

"You bet we will," one Tynite cried. "We'll gladly help you end his ride. We want the bike because it's ours. 'Twas good old Santa's gift. Your bear is riding 'round in play, but we must soon be on our way. In order that we get the bike, we'll gladly give a life."

But, ere they had a chance to run the big bear stopped. His trip was done. His master ran right up to him and caught him by the nose. "I ought to spank you now," said he, "but I'll let you go some stunts for me I'll let you do. Please do the sort of tricks you do in shows."

The bear said, "Anything you like." And soon hopped right back on the bike. He then did very funny tricks. The whole bunch laughed in glee. Said Clowny, "Goodness, he is good. I never really thought he would do tricks like that. Why, honestly, he's better, far, than me."

(The Tynmites meet some monkeys in the next story.)

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scott, sons of Sherman and Wellington, spent Sunday with Mrs. Scott's sister, Mrs. Nellie Clark at Suring.

Interesting Menus

By Sister Mary

NEA Service Writer
Many housekeepers overlook the possibilities in vegetable juice cocktails. The latest hotels and restaurants include them among first course appetizers for luncheon and dinner and they are most practicable for home use.

As in any appetizer, careful seasoning is essential. Lemon juice or vinegar, sugar, salt, sometimes a dash of onion juice, a drop of onion juice, just a hint of pepper, can be added to almost any vegetable flavor with appetizing effect.

Thorough chilling and attractive serving are also imperative. While the cocktail must be perfectly smooth and "drinkable," it need not be of a watery consistency. Strained orange juice has a bit more substance than clear water and is pleasantly smooth with a consistency ideal in a cocktail.

MANY VEGETABLES USABLE
Tomato juice and sauerkraut juice are rather commonly used, but other vegetables can be successfully manipulated. Canned vegetables or fresh ones are equally good and there is no waste or loss of vitamin or mineral content when the juice as well as the solid vegetables is made use of.

Vegetables which are wanted quite dry for dressing for the table offer less difficulty for the cook if she need not cook away every drop of liquid. When the vegetable stock is drained off and used in another meal as a cocktail, nothing is wasted and the cook can relax her cat-like vigilance of the last few minutes of the cooking period.

The water in which celery is cooked, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, broccoli, carrots, mushrooms or the juice from canned vegetables is made piquant and stimulating by proper seasoning.

Of course, the same vegetable should not appear twice in a meal. Some morning, when stewed fruit or baked apples have been the breakfast, try serving a tomato juice cocktail for the luncheon or dinner first course.

FOOT HEALTH

Conducted for Readers of Appleton Post-Crescent
By GEO. C. DAME

EAT-SLEEP-AND EXERCISE BUT DON'T FORGET YOUR FEET

You may eat carefully to safeguard against digestive troubles. You may sleep the proper number of hours. You may follow regular exercises to keep your back, your neck, your arms, and your legs in fine muscular condition...

Yet all these precautions may be of little value if you forget about all the intricate mechanism in your FEET—the part of your body that is bound in leather all day long, without a chance to "breathe" and without a chance to exercise.

If people only knew it, most of "tired feelings" and "rundown conditions" about which so many men and women complain, are nothing more than warning signs from the feet. They need care, scientifically fitted shoes, and above all—proper exercise.

And here is another in this series of helps for your feet:

EXERCISE NO. 4

Sit down for this one. Extend the foot and leg on as near a straight line with the leg as possible. Extend and bring the foot back as you count: "One—two; three—four" etc. This exercise is particularly excellent for weak feet and contracted muscles at the ball of the foot.

EXERCISE NO. 5

Reverse the process we have just gone through. Instead of extending leg into a straight line with the leg as formerly, draw the foot and leg up toward you. Count as before. Can't you feel the pull on the muscles of the back of the leg and heel? I shall be glad to answer any questions about foot problems if you will write, telephone or call in person at

CANNERS FAIL TO GET LOWER RATES

Supreme Court Reaffirms Its Former Decision Monday

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—The long efforts of Wisconsin canners to obtain a reduction in freight rates on canned goods from Wisconsin points to eastern destinations met final defeat Monday when the Interstate Commerce commission reaffirmed its former decision.

An increase in freight rates on canned goods from Wisconsin to points in New York, New Jersey, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Rhode Island was granted by the commission in 1925.

The National Canners Association and especially Wisconsin canners sought to have the case reopened at that time, but failed. They then filed a complaint against the existing rates, and were again denied a decrease. They asked that the case be reopened. It was, and again the lower rates have been denied and the complaint dismissed.

The Wisconsin canners sought to have the rates established on the basis of the distances from Wisconsin points to the eastern destinations by car-ferry routes via Milwaukee, Manitowish, or Kewaunee, across Lake Michigan, thence across Michigan and through Canada to the Niagara gateway. This route is shorter from most of Wisconsin than the rail routes.

The commission held it was without authority to prescribe joint rates over Canada lines and thus none based on such routes.

Talks To Parents

HOLDING THE FLOOR BY ALICE JUDSON PEALE

Billy had been taken shopping with his mother and two of her friends.

At the grand tea room lunch table, under the influence of all his favorite dishes and a double order of ice cream, Billy became expansive. He talked freely of the relative merits of a suit of armor and a cowboy outfit he had seen in the toy department. He offered his opinion of the French teacher's looks and his mother's tennis game.

He had the floor entirely to himself for about 10 minutes before his mother checked him with, "I always say, 'give them an inch and they take an ell.' Billy, you are talking too much. Nobody wants to hear what you have to say. Finish your ice cream and keep still."

To squelch a child publicly for what amounts to no more than lack of training is a mistake. The child's response is most likely to be a sense of resentment against the person who silenced him. For the child the emphasis of the situation does not lie in the correction he has received nor does it give rise to a wish to improve.

The time to teach a child manners is when you are alone with him. A word tactfully spoken at such a

COUNCIL TO STUDY BRIDGE QUESTION TUESDAY EVENING

Aldermen Still Undecided About Project Over Tail Race

Kaukauna — The common council will meet for the first time this year at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the municipal building.

The question of whether the city should build the bridge across the tail race in the near future in order to give unemployed men work will be discussed. Plans were presented to the council recently by City Engineer F. M. Charlesworth showing the approximate cost of erecting three bridges, two of steel and one of concrete. The figures were approximately $12,000 for the concrete bridge and $18,000 and $19,000 for the steel bridges.

At the last council meeting Louis Wolf, city clerk, was instructed to write to the league of Wisconsin Municipalities to get data on charges for answering fire calls out of the city. If this data is received before the meeting convenes the question probably will be settled. It has been pending for several months.

Whether the city will extend the time to pay taxes will be discussed. Last year the council was divided on this question. At present all taxes must be paid by Feb. 1. The time limit was extended one month last year.

RADIO INDUSTRY IS IN THROES OF REAL TRANSITION

Overproduction and Stock Market Collapse Results in Temporary Lull

BY ROBERT MACK
Copyright, 1930, by Cons Press
Washington—The radio industry is in the throes of its first drastic period of transition—the victim of overproduction and the stock market collapse which caused a temporary lull in radio buying.

Although leaders in the industry say 1930 will be another banner year, an industrial survey, made by an impartial organization, shows that things will not be so rosy for receiving set manufacturers as a whole during the next few months. Close to 1,000,000 sets are on the hands of jobbers—left over from 1929. The present capacity of the industry is about four times the immediate consumption requirements.

Evidence of the transition period was reflected in the failure of a number of rather weakly situated companies during the latter months of last year. Immediate indications, it is stated, are of an intensive period of price cutting on the carry-over sets and further competition which will tend to eliminate smaller manufacturers unable to stand the strain.

Tube manufacturers have been less vitally affected. The constantly growing replacement market has continued activity at a substantial pace, but some decline in total output for the early months of 1930, at least, is foreseen.

MUST REORGANIZE

Reorganization of the industry along sound economic lines is inevitable. Since radio's initial boom nearly a decade ago, it has all been milk and honey for manufacturers. But the combination of economic circumstances, according to the survey, brought out the inherent weaknesses of the structure.

Full responsibility for the drying up of radio buying, cannot be placed at the door of stock market losses, it is held. The possibility of quick profits attracted a large number of new manufacturers into the field, so that in the past year, an enlargement of from 300 to 400 per cent in the trade's capacity resulted. It is estimated that the industry is capable of producing close to 15,000,000 sets a year, whereas the estimated normal demand is about 3,500,000 sets.

For the year just ended, sales of receiving sets established a new record, despite the disappointing fourth quarter, which brought about the transition period. Preliminary trade estimates are that 3,500,000 units were sold, or about 1,000,000 units in excess of 1929. The value of the products sold is estimated at about $450,000,000 or 40 per cent above the 1928 total.

The persistence of business during the first three quarters of the year, however, was entirely responsible for the peak year. Introduction of new and improved sets and the sharp reduction in prices all along the line, stimulated the demand of the consuming public during the first 9 months, but the drastic slump in the stock market terminated the advance. When the market broke at its worst, retail sales of sets declined more than 50 per cent, the survey shows.

The survey finds that there now exists a potential replacement market for around 2,000,000 sets, as well as a large potential demand from the 10,000,000 homes already wired for electricity, which as yet have no radio sets. Exports of sets also are on the up-grade, with the trade in 1929 practically doubling that of the preceding year. And yet the surface of the export trade hardly has been scratched, it is said.

SEASON OF LOWEST AVERAGE INTEREST RATES PREDICTED

Currency Used Over Holidays Returns to Banks This Week

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons Press
Wall Street, New York—(Financial Review & Outlook)—With the return flow this week to the banks of currency used over the holidays and the deposit of interest and dividend checks, bankers see ahead the beginning of a season of lowest average interest rates since early in 1928.

The extent of the period of low money, however, is still debatable. At present rates are being affected by the abundance of cash money, which is related to the decline in stock exchange transactions to the smallest daily volumes in months, as well as by the much reduced average level of prices of securities. It is also affected by contracting commercial demands. Up to date, the fact that nearly $100,000,000 in gold has been exported, or approximately one-third of the total amount which it is believed may go out on this movement, has made little impression on the money market as it is so much overabundant by other conditions.

The difficulty in determining the extent of the low money era explains the postponement of long term investment purchases, particularly fixed interest bearing securities. Individuals and institutions that have funds available have not yet come to a definite conclusion as to whether the time is propitious for buying securities that fluctuate with interest rates. This state of mind is also apparent among borrowers. Applications recently made to the interstate commerce commission for new financing have included more requests to issue short term securities than were to be expected on the eve of a readjustment in interest rates to a severe deflation in the prices of securities.

Judgment concerning money rates, and therefore prices of bonds, was so inaccurate in the early part of 1929 that there is hesitancy today in making long term commitments based on the money market outlook, although conditions favor low rates much more than they did two years ago. This is not only true of domestic but of foreign markets. Exports of gold from the standpoint of the underwriters of bonds and the borrowing corporations, is the contrast between the last period of easy rates and large emissions of bonds and the technical surroundings of the investment market. Those of the earlier periods were decidedly weak from a great excess of new securities; those today are strong through an absence of supplies.

Numerically, and in the total dollar amount offered, municipal issues lately have been taking the lead over those for corporation accounts.

While there is almost no long term borrowing for foreign account, banks that specialize in extending short term credits to European countries.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat In 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote — "My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks and during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for—I feel better than I have for years."

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." — Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts are carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 53c bottle of Kruschen Salts from Schultz Bros. 3 Stores or any live druggist anywhere in America with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

COMMISSION TO PUSH BIRD FEEDING WORK

Madison—(P)—Enlargement and extension of the practices of providing natural winter feeding grounds for game birds will be furthered in the future because of the successful results obtained during the past two years, the research bureau of the conservation commission announced today.

The work was started in 1928 by Dr. Merrill L. Jones, Wausau, supervisor of the research bureau. With the cooperation of E. A. Van Wormer, Babcock, he planted buckwheat in prairie chicken territory, allowing some areas to stand through the winter and having others harvested.

This year practically all the buckwheat was harvested and stored in shocks, ready to be made available to birds during the severe winter months.

Dr. Jones reported that during the first two months of last year, hundreds of prairie chickens, mourning doves and other birds flocked to the feeding stations.

Beloit—(P)—M. Dahl, 71, veteran steel plovermaker who helped his farm make the first steel plover in the United States, is dead at his home here after an attack of paralysis.

STATE DEPARTMENT KNOWS EVERYTHING IN THIS OLD WORLD

It Can Even Give You the Dope on Game Laws in Costa Rica

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—In the State Department is probably the most complete existing collection of information about the affairs of the outside world. The Bureau of Indexes and Archives is the halsen section of all government agencies for obtaining and recording facts of every description from all foreign countries. It has at least 10,000,000 papers tucked away in 8000 or 9000 filing cases, dating back to 1906 and most of them mean something or other.

The ideal is that if anyone connected with the government asks for any information whatever on the internal affairs of any foreign nation the Bureau of Indexes and Archives, working with an elaborate but simple decimal index system, can locate it within two minutes.

LOTS OF MILITARY FACTS

Naturally, it is better than any encyclopedia or library because the information is constantly kept up to date by American diplomatic, consular and other agents abroad.

The State Department itself is especially interested in collecting military, naval and political information likely to be useful in its dealings with other governments, but that's only a part of what it has on hand.

Among the subheadings it uses in cataloging the rest of the world one observes such items as Domestic Animals, Boy Scouts, Game Laws, Flowers, Entertainment, Fine Arts, Public Health and Animal Diseases. When the State Department knows about such things as those in Czechoslovakia, Afghanistan, Costa Rica, Luxembourg and Iraq you might almost say it knows everything.

There are about 140 persons in this Bureau of Indexes and Archives and last year they handled 1,340,000 pieces of incoming mail, recording, indexing, routing and filing. Much of this mail came in the diplomatic pouches from foreign service officials, guarded by complex locks, but there is always a big influx of American mail following the development of important situations in world affairs—especially anything that concerns peace or disarmament.

Mail clerks take first crack at the letters and roughly classify them for distribution among the bureau's 11 record sections—with titles such as Far Eastern, Latin American, Western European and Administrative—where they are given minute classification.

GETS JAIL SENTENCE WHEN HE IGNORES COMPENSATION LAW

Madison—(P)—Refusal of E. J. Bryne, Madison employer, to comply with the state law requiring the carrying of workmen's compensation cost him a three month sentence to hard labor here yesterday.

Judge A. C. Hoppmann sentenced Bryne in circuit court for violating a court injunction restraining him from employing anyone while not carrying compensation insurance.

Records proved that the defendant had refused to comply with the law since 1925 and that in 1926 the commission asked the attorney general to prosecute for the collection of the statutory forfeiture of $100 a day inasmuch as one of Bryne's employees was injured and had been unable to obtain compensation.

In spite of the pending action Bryne continued to employ persons, two of whom were injured. He violated an injunction issued by Judge Hoppmann in 1928 by employing men, some of whom were injured.

Record clerks in these sections list and make the necessary marks on each communication, determining its routing and often joining it with previous correspondence for the aid of the receiving official. Some of the material is very confidential and is carried in locked boxes.

Each piece of mail then goes through a reviewing desk which checks the classification and sends it direct to its immediate destination. Anything on labor conditions in England goes to the department's division of Western European affairs, anything on Chinese famines to the Far Eastern division and so on. The foreign service officer who receives the paper then sees whether it requires any action. He may mark it for filing, in which case it comes back to a tally desk which removes the charge. All incoming papers are charged up as a book from a leading library.

THEY NEVER LOST A THING

If the letter or report is moved on for the perusal of several officials, the Bureau can always tell, through its check system, just where the paper is. It has to go back there before it can move on, carried by messengers who make the rounds, visiting each office every 20 minutes.

Eventually, of course, everything goes back for filing.

"Don't anything ever get lost?" David A. Salmon, chief of the bureau, was asked.

"Papers may be mislaid," he replied, "but I never knew one to be lost."

Jailor And Prisoner Injured During Riot

Sacramento, Calif.—(P)—A jailor and a prisoner were suffering from severe wounds today and the county jail was guarded by extra officers as the result of a riot.

Sixteen inmates of the jail's "felony tank" made a desperate but unsuccessful bid for their freedom last night as they were being locked in their cells. The prisoners were armed with a knife and a piece of iron. Albert Boss, charged with the murder of a grocery clerk, during a holdup, started the outbreak, officers said. He appeared suddenly at the main floor cell block and demanded that Deputy Sheriff Charles Warden liberate him. Grabbing a shotgun, Warren aimed at Boss, who retreated.

The alarm was spread and the county jail was surrounded by sheriff's deputies and policemen.

The physical violence was precipitated by Harry Abel, held for holding up a roadhouse near Sacramento. Abel struck Jailor George Hall over the head with a piece of iron as the officer was about to lock up the cells for the night.

Grabbing Hall's keys, Abel and Boss led the attack on the officers in the jail. They were joined by Martin and Wilbert Rider, while other prisoners watched the struggle.

Deputy Sheriff Warren summoned assistance and with Sheriff Ellis Jones and Deputy Sheriff H. W. Shannon entered the cell block and forced the maling prisoners to return to their cells. In the melee, Hall and Ed Nichols, a trusty, were beaten severely on the face and body. Nichols also suffered a knife wound in his shoulder. The knife was not found nor was it learned which prisoner wielded the weapon.

PETERSON TAKES OVER DUTIES WITH STATE

Madison—(P)—The new head of the division of cooperative marketing, R. A. Peterson of Wisconsin Rapids, put in his first day of work at the state capitol yesterday toward the strengthening of cooperative movement of Wisconsin.

Mr. Peterson, appointed last December, took active charge of his work yesterday after passing the civil service examination Jan. 1.

With the new division head will work William Kirsh, senior statistician; C. N. Pulley, director of bonded warehouses; C. W. Wilson, M. J. Heisman, Fred Myhre, accountants; R. M. Orchard, legal advisor; and James Gwinn, director of honey marketing.

The cooperative marketing movement, successfully launched at various meetings by farm organizations, ended to approximate the ideal sought by the federal farm board, Mr. Peterson said.

Farm organization heads, he said, have come to realize that federal aid cannot be obtained until the farmers of the state organize their marketing efforts. The division of cooperative marketing will endeavor to build up the cooperative marketing system among Wisconsin farmers to the fullest extent, Mr. Peterson said.

Hoboken, N. J.—Ship news reporters are certain they have discovered a brewery aboard the American liner George Washington. It operates at sea, producing in 24 hours 12 percent fluid which must be consumed in 72 hours or it goes flat. Plans Kauster, from Germany, is the ship's brewmeister.

Temperature Drop due Tonight!

protect your car NOW

Here's how to protect your car against "freeze-ups" in less than 2 minutes with Denatured Alcohol

BR-R! LOOKS COLD, DOESN'T IT? And this is just a sample of the freezing weather just around the corner. "Snow and Cold" will be forecast soon... and that means trouble for motorists who forget to fill their radiators with Denatured Alcohol... the universally approved anti-freeze.

WISER MAN NOW... He thought that he was protected, but his substitute anti-freeze had leaked away. Now a frozen motor right when he wanted the car badly. He'll take no more unnecessary chances he says. A dollar or two buys all the Denatured Alcohol you'll need all season. Look for the orange and green sign at the first indication of colder weather. That's the place to buy.

ALL THERE IS TO IT! Just pour in Denatured Alcohol. The Alco-Tester shows you the strength of your solution.

TONIGHT, car owners! That's what the weather man says! Winter's due... with a sharp drop in temperature! Maybe you think your car is protected... but just to be sure drive now to the nearest garage or filling station. Tell the man you want Denatured Alcohol.

He'll look at a chart that tells him how much your car requires. Then put in that amount. As an extra check, he tests the solution... and you drive away, knowing your power plant is fully protected... and less than 2 minutes required!

Think how simple it is! Far less bother than changing oil... no more time than filling the gas tank!

And you've followed the procedure most automobile engineers recommend... used the only anti-freeze with a backing of 20 years of successful use!

Safe, Sure, Economical!

Denatured Alcohol is fully tried. It protects your car against cold weather... without the danger of damage to the motor. No corrosion of metal parts. No rotted hose.

No damaged pumps. No risk of shorted electrical circuits.

You use it as you need it... a little or more as the climate calls for. You pay only for what you need. You have no needless servicing charges to meet, no inconvenience from unnecessary lay-ups.

More... your cooling system requires no more attention than you normally give it. Your service man will check your solution any time... and tell you as often as you wish to know just how much you are protected.

As for cost, Denatured Alcohol is by far the cheapest anti-freeze on the market. In the severest climates, a full winter's supply will cost you only a fraction as much as certain other anti-freezes.

Remember... Denatured Alcohol is the universally accepted anti-freeze for motor cars. Use it... and you are following the experience of 20,000,000 motorists who know how safe and sure it is.

Look for the orange and green sign.

The Industrial Alcohol Institute, Inc., Graybar Building, New York City.

SIX INDISPUTABLE FACTS

You've heard a lot about anti-freezes. Here are the real facts in the case... the indisputable reasons why more motorists use Denatured Alcohol than all other anti-freezes combined.

1. An entire season's supply of Denatured Alcohol usually costs less than half as much as one filling of some preparations.
2. Denatured Alcohol is harmless to radiators, engines and electrical systems. It will not corrode metal parts or attack rubber hose and does not cause leaks.
3. No special service is required to make your car ready for winter. Just put Denatured Alcohol in your radiator as it is.
4. Every car manufacturer approves Denatured Alcohol, and the firm that made your radiator is also emphatic in its endorsement.
5. If your protective solution is lost through accident or carelessness, the cost of replacement with Denatured Alcohol is usually one-sixth that of replacement with some preparations.
6. You can get Denatured Alcohol anywhere, anytime. Service when you need it, wherever you are.

Save time and money with DENATURED ALCOHOL The Safest, Cheapest Anti-Freeze

Revive Professional Basketball Sport Here Tonight

MILLER CORDS AND KIMBERLY CLARK BATTLE AT ARMORY

Appleton Team Will Show Four Former Lawrence Men in Lineup

ANOTHER attempt to interest Appleton basketball fans in the professional game will be made Tuesday night at Armory G. when the Miller Cords of Appleton battle Kimberly-Clark quintet from over at the village. The preliminary game will feature another team from Kimberly's, Lefty's Aces versus the O. R. Kleinh company of Appleton. It's a long while since the pro game found any foothold in Appleton but with a flock of well known basketballers, promoters of the Miller Cords believe they can revive the sport. If Tuesday night's attempt is successful several more games will be played here and big time cagers brought to the city. Tentative games now have been arranged with the Kohler five and with a traveling team from Buffalo. Four former Lawrence college stars headline the Miller Cords lineup. They are Eddie Kotal, Robert Ashman, and Jake Zussman, former members of the Lawrence Midland and state championship teams a few years back and Arnie Hillman who came in after the title team had passed. The remaining two members of the squad are Milton Scheurle one time at Oshkosh normal and Elmer Dunn, former high school star.

The Kimberly team has the same array of veterans that has graced the village court for several years and makes up probably one of the smoothest working basketball teams in the valley. The Villagers hold victories over several of the best state teams and will give the Cords a real test tonight.

Because the evening's athletic activities take on the aspect of an Appleton-Kimberly basketball feud and the folks over at Kimberly take the sport seriously, it is expected a large crowd will see the game, probably as many cheering for the visitors as for the home club.

LITTLE CHUTE "5" IS SEEKING GAMES

Merchants Beat High School Team Last Week; Play Mulford's

The Little Chute Merchant has defeated the Little Chute high school team in an exhibition game at legion hall last week by a 23 to 20 score.

The Merchants showed a change in the form shown several weeks ago when they were defeated by St. Joseph school alumni team of Appleton. Past play featured the entire battle despite the fact the high school seemed a bit off on shooting. Kaufmann's will furnish opposition for the Merchants at Little Chute Thursday evening as a preliminary to the Kimberly-Clark Shorty's Shoss game.

New equipment has been secured for the Merchants and they now are decked out in orange trunks with black jerseys and orange lettering. Merchants who donated the suits are Glouman's, Looks Meats, Driessen barber shop, Hannagraft groceries, Hartjes alloys, Casey's insurance, Verkuilen furniture. Others who have donated to the team are Glouman's hardware store, Dr. Donohue, and J. J. Vannand.

Games are being sought by the team and any squads wishing to meet the Merchants should communicate with George Vanderloop, manager, Little Chute.

Members of the Merchant team in the high school game were Ray Verstegen, Gerry Verstegen, Emil Van Dyke, Ray DeBruin, R. Vanden Heuvel, E. Sanders, Art Widenberg, Lemuel of the high school team. Merchants' lineup: Weynboom, Weynberg, Kroner, VanderVelden, Schommer, Lamers.

Major League Players Start South Next Month

BY JOHN R. FOSTER Copyright, 1930

NEW YORK—With perhaps one or two exceptions major league managers will put in full time this spring training their players. Some teams will leave as early as Feb. 15. Not all players will go south on that date, but pitchers and catchers will.

The significance in this plan lies in the fact that there had been some reports of the shortening of the training season. To abandon this intention makes it apparent that managers anticipating red hot campaigns, have gone to the owners and informed them they better get well prepared.

The Chicago Nationals have been advocates of plenty of spring work. Although they have not always finished in the first division after training at Catalina, they have finished in good condition physically and that means sustained power to a baseball club that must play 134 games.

A team that can begin well must continue the pace to the end if it is to win or finish in the first division. Sprinters more than once have threatened to win pennants in June, but fell in August because of none too good physical condition.

All presumable contenders in the race will be off to the training camps from Feb. 15 in. The Philadelphia Nationals will train longer in 1930 than last year, because they think they are a better ball team this season and have a chance to get out of the second division.

To date the Yankees have announced the longest exhibition trip with 32 games. They are going from Florida to Texas and then up to New York. It is a Babe Ruth invasion, of course.

The shortest trip is that of the Chicago Nationals. They will train in California and then get home by a short cut. It will be almost a straightaway ride from California to Chicago.

BOSTON HOCKEY TEAM AFTER 13TH VICTORY

New York—(AP)—Leaders in each group of the National hockey league meet tonight.

The Montreal rivals for the top of the international group standing, Les Canadiens and the Maroons, will have their first battle since they reached their places only one point apart.

The American group leaders, the Boston Bruins and the New York Rangers, play at Boston. The Bruins are shooting for a continuation of their record breaking string of 12 victories.

Toronto's Maple Leafs come to New York for an engagement with the Americans.

SHIRES TO MEET TONY FAETH AT ST. PAUL TONIGHT

Great One and Manager Won't Appear Before Illinois Commission

CHICAGO—(AP)—Charles Arthur (The Great) Shires does not propose to permit meetings of state athletic commissions to cause him to disappoint his public.

While he is more or less soured on the boxing business, the great one is still after money and decided not to attend the meeting of the Illinois State Athletic commission this afternoon, so that he might go through with a bout at St. Paul tonight.

C. Arthur said he could not attend the meeting which was arranged for him to explain some things about his meeting with Mysterious Dangerous Dan Daly of Cleveland, and still have time to fulfill his engagement in St. Paul, with Tony Faeth, a baseball pitcher. Rather than disappoint the fans he decided to pass up the meeting. And, too, he still is considerably short of the $25,000 he hopes to get out of boxing.

Nessie Blumenthal, the shy one's manager, said Mrs. Blumenthal today would notify the commission that neither fighter nor manager could attend the meeting. Blumenthal also outlined Shires' itinerary for the next few days. The great man will return to Chicago after the St. Paul fight, but will pause only as long as it takes to catch a train for Lansing, Mich., where the Michigan Boxing commission plans to delve into the circumstances surrounding Shires' proposed bout with Battling Criss of Rockwood, Mich. Criss, manager has charged that a Shires' representative requested the fighter to fold up in the fight, and C. Arthur has been invited to explain.

If the Michigan commission is vindicated in its charges, Shires will fulfill the date with Criss. He then plans to return to Chicago, where he long as it takes to catch a train with the White Sox management.

Shires may encounter difficulty when he seeks an audience with the Sox management, for Secretary Harry Grabiner has said the first baseman must clear himself of all charges before the club will be ready to consider offering him a contract.

Promoter Jim Mullen, who staged the Shires-Daly and Shires-Trafton bouts, also was summoned to attend the meeting today, as were Daly and Eddie Meade, who handled the Cleveland fighter in Chicago. None of the three had indicated whether he would attend.

Shires will appear in St. Paul in spite of the National Boxing Association suspension, which has ordered him barred in 32 states.

KIECKHEFER WINS FROM LAYTON IN CUE MEET

New York—(AP)—A surprising stand by Augie Kieckhefer, Chicago southpaw, has knocked one corner off the triangular race for the national three cushion billiards championship, leaving it a duel between Otto Reisel of Philadelphia and Allan Hall of St. Louis.

After breaking even in his first two games, Kieckhefer last night defeated Johnny Layton of St. Louis, the defending champion, 50 to 38 in 58 innings. It was Layton's first defeat in three years of tournament competition. Reisel and Hall still are undefeated.

Yesterday Hall beat Harry Schuler of New York, 50 to 18 in 43 innings while Reisel turned in a 49 inning victory over Tiff Denton of Kansas City, 50 to 37.

Joe Capulos of Detroit yesterday beat Charles Jordan of Los Angeles, 50 to 45 in 61 innings.

With her negro maid, Julia, she comes to live in the luxuriously furnished lodge for a month as required by the provisions of Hecatt Prescott's will, which further stipulates that the maid must absent herself more than an hour a day. She arrives to find a swarthy skinned man who waits upon her and then disappears. Then she meets her neighbors, Obadiah Evans and his son, Jim, and tips the latter when he comes to her door. She is within the period of grace allowed by her uncle's will.

"Don't let your enthusiasm run away with you, Julia," Peggy said as they reached the dock and Julia regarded the birch bark canoe with distended eyes.

"Keep it up fully," Peggy cautioned, "but it was unnecessary."

Clinging tightly to the dock, the maid lowered herself into the canoe by degrees, never releasing her hold of the wooden pile until she was seated in the bow, then transferred her grasp to the canoe's sides, her fingers actually firm the pressure, but she clung the tighter as Peggy paddled away.

CLOTURE RULE IN SENATE SOURCE OF MUCH UNEASINESS

Underground Move Is Underway to Abolish Time Limit to Debate

BY WILLIAM HARD
(Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press)

Washington — (CPA) — The senate met Monday with one of the queerest possible aftermaths hanging over it from the Vane case.

In view of the action taken by the senate in excluding William S. Vane from administration, the senate, a genuine fear has arisen in certain southern quarters to the effect that a northern and western Republican majority might some day be able in a similar manner to exclude some southern senators from admission to the senate on the ground that in their states there is said to be an unconstitutional restriction of the voting rights of colored people, and, therefore, there is a movement now being forward underground in the senate to abolish the present senatorial cloture rule which enables the senate to bring debate to an end and to proceed to a roll-call.

It is calculated that if the cloture rule were abolished, the southern members of the senate could filibuster more effectively against the exclusion of any senator than they could now. Such a situation should be at some feasible moment attempted. That certain northern senators wish to attempt it is undoubted.

Their opportunity could in theory and in principle take place as early as March 4 of next year. On that day one-third of the senate will have to be renewed. In most cases, presumably, the present senators will be succeeded by themselves. Even in those cases, however, where they will not be valid members of the senate till they are freshly sworn in.

This swearing in, according to precedent, can now be prevented by a majority of the senators whose terms will not have expired and who will continue automatically to be senators on March 4—and for two or four years thereafter. A majority of such senators will be Republicans.

It might be possible for them, then, to bring to a head and seal off a lot of the new freshly elected or re-elected Republicans, while still detaining the new freshly elected or re-elected Democrats on the senatorial doormat. With their numbers thus augmented, the Republicans could conceivably arrive at having temporarily a two-thirds majority of all senators sworn in.

They could then proceed to examine into the case of some southern senator—such as Pat Harrison of Mississippi, who will be up for reelection next November and up for re-admission to the senate in March of 1930—and they could proceed to charge it against him, accurately or inaccurately, that large numbers of colored people are unconstitutionally excluded from the suffrage in Mississippi, and that Mr. Harrison, therefore, was not constitutionally or properly elected to the senate.

Then, further, if his southern colleagues tried to enter into a protracted debate upon the subject, they could, with their two-thirds majority, if they were able to achieve such a majority, take advantage of the senate's cloture rule and bring the debate promptly to a finish and a roll-call and exclude Mr. Harrison.

This prospective chain of possibilities has been thoroughly explored in senatorial conversations during the last few weeks. It has been pre-ceived that while the procedure here detailed may never be pursued, it at any rate arises as a possibility. It is admitted further, that among numerous Republicans who are greatly embittered by the senatorial treatment given to Pennsylvania in the case of Mr. Vane is a vehement desire to visit some similar treatment upon some senator from the south.

It has been thought that the best way to fight that desire in advance would be to get rid of the cloture rule, which is a very modern and recent thing and which does not at all command the respect that the senate gives to its more ancient tradition. The cloture rule has existed for only twelve years and is out of harmony with senatorial institutions in general. It is thought that an effort now to get rid of it would, in the circumstances, have important support.

DEMAND FOR BOOKS FOR LIBRARIES INCREASES

Madison — (CP) — Miss Harriet Long, state traveling library head, is surprised at the exceptional increase in demand for books in the traveling collections in the last six months. Generally, she said, a heavy increase was noted in January and the subsequent winter months, because the weather confines more people to their firesides and books.

"People must be reading as never before," she said today. "Since July 1, 84,453 books have been shipped into the state in response to 13,996 requests. These figures represent almost 12,000 (11,700) more books shipped into rural Wisconsin communities than were sent out from this department last year during the same six months. And these figures also show almost 1500 (1750) more requests filled than were cared for in the same period of 1928."

Miss Long attributed some of the increase to a new catalogue issued by the library. "Books for Your Business," "The booklet, advises business men, industrialists, journalists, and all others in business concerning a long list of books available in the library for their special lines.

It was sent to the weekly newspapers of the state, through the real estate broker's board to real estate men, and through the state banking department to banks of the state and this notification resulted in a great increased demand for the library's shipments.

ORGANIZE CLASSES FOR ACCOUNTANTS

Two classes in accounting will be organized next week at Wisconsin Rapids and Wausau under the direction of Prof. Marshall C. Graft, director of the local office of the University of Wisconsin Extension division. The advanced class in accounting will be conducted at Wausau by Mrs. Anna Wendt, while a class in executive accounting will be taught at Wisconsin Rapids by W. J. Schenck. The class at the latter city is being sponsored by the vocational school and Consolidated Water Power and Paper company.

ROAD SCHOOL WILL OPEN ITS ANNUAL SESSION JAN. 27

Minnesota Highway Commissioner Is Listed as One of Speakers

Madison — (CP) — The Wisconsin Highway commission's annual road school, inaugurated in 1912, will be held here Jan. 27-30 inclusive this year.

Highway officials, in making the announcement today, predicted an attendance equal to that of last year. The school came in 1929 with 1,248 state and county officials met to discuss problems encountered in highway construction and to make plans for the ensuing year.

Following an address of welcome by Gov. Kohler, the delegates will hear an address entitled "Planning a State Highway System" by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner of Minnesota and a national authority on highway construction. Commissioner Babcock won wide publicity for the "Babcock System" of highways which he instituted in Minnesota.

The last three days of the session will be devoted to individual problems. "Maintenance Day" is set for Jan. 28, "Administration Day" and "Construction and Materials Day" following Jerry Donohue, chairman of the state highway commission, will preside at the opening session.

The 19th annual road school dinner will climax the four day session. Walter B. Chilsen, editor of the Merrill Herald, will be toastmaster and Capt. Irving Hay soldier of fortune, the principal speaker.

In addition to Gov. Kohler and Commissioner Babcock, speakers at the first day's program will include John F. Herzog, president of the Wisconsin County Highway Commissioners' association and W. C. Buelow, state highway engineer. A meeting of the Wisconsin County Highway Commissioners' association continues the day's program.

Fred J. Seguin, Superior, highway engineer will present over the Maintenance Day morning session while Charles A. Halbert, state chief engineer, takes over the afternoon session. Prominent among the day's speeches are the following: Snow removal and drift prevention, Edward Gleason, Barron county highway commissioner; Taking over the state trunk highway system, K. G. Kurtenacker, secretary of the state highway commission; Checking up truck loadings, W. J. Phillip, highway commission traffic officer; Maintenance of concrete pavements, E. R. Fischer, Racine county highway commissioner, and Wisconsin's experience with dust layers, W. S. Sherlock, maintenance engineer of Division No. 5.

COMMITTEES TO MEET
Committees of the Wisconsin County Highway Commissioners' association will meet during the session of Jan. 28 to discuss highway legislation, most notably, developments in highway maintenance and cooperation between counties and towns in the construction of country trunks and town highways.

Attention has been focused on the scheduled address by E. E. Witte, chief of the Wisconsin Legislative Reference Library, entitled "New Highway Legislation" which opens the Administration Day program. For a number of weeks rumors were current that a special legislative session impended because present highway legislation met with objections from the federal bureau of roads in its distribution of federal highway aid. The road school delegates expect to learn the progress that has been made toward the solution of the problem.

Highway accidents will be discussed by Sidney J. Williams, former secretary of the National Safety League, on Jan. 29. Other addresses are: Application of research to highway improvements, H. F. Janda, University of Wisconsin, and Regional planning for the state, M. W. Torkelson, director of regional planning. At a meeting of members of the county highway committees, John M. Brown county, will speak on the financing of county highway work and E. A. Goodman, Waukesha county, will discuss cooperation between county and state highway departments.

C. E. Moore, Rock county highway commissioner will address the school Jan. 30, speaking about construction forces and machinery in relation to concrete paving. Problems of paving also will be discussed by C. W. Langley, Jr., Sheboygan county highway engineer, and E. L. Roettiger, assistant construction engineer.

Discussions of highway problems and remedies will end with an address by Jerry Donohue. He has selected for his subject "Wisconsin's Highway Future."

CUT WASTE, KEEP BETTER RECORDS, IS KLEIN'S ADVICE

Closer Tab on Costs and Functional Details Necessary, He Says

St. Louis — (CP) — Retail business was advised today by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, to study its affairs during 1930, with a view to locating items of preventable waste and to keeping better records.

Speaking before the National Shoe Retailers association Dr. Klein urged a closer tab upon the costs and functional details of selling.

"It has been reliably estimated that an average of nearly one million merchants—wholesalers, jobbers and retailers—do not make adequate systematic analysis of their business problems," he said, giving this to mean that business heads "are so preoccupied with the immediate goods that they cannot study carefully the fundamental factors which determine the success or failure of every business establishment."

Pointing to problems of hand-to-mouth existence, the assistant commerce secretary cited a recent experimental distribution census of 11 representative cities which developed that approximately 25 per cent. of the independent retailers were doing a gross business averaging less than $7 a day for this group. One can appreciate, he said, why the storekeeper operating on such a precarious margin could give no thought to the study of secondary problems.

ANALYSIS IMPORTANT
"And this particular juncture in our business history makes such analysis of our selling problems of imperative importance," Dr. Klein continued. "The stabilization program so auspiciously inaugurated under the president's inspiring leadership last month involves not simply the launching of great construction programs by public utilities and governmental agencies. It involves above all a commanding obligation on the part of each individual business agency in the country to study its affairs, to ferret out every single item of preventable waste, and above all, to keep better records."

"I would most emphatically not wish to be understood as offering this in any spirit of destructive criticism of our distributors," he said, adding that "the only helpful, constructive attitude is that of encouraging the study of the practices of conspicuously successful merchants."

"To the retailer, therefore, who is far from ready to submit supinely to trade difficulties, the outlook for 1930 is one of opportunity for intensive, careful study."

SPEDDER PAYS FINE OF $10 AND COSTS
Walter F. Burman, 732 W. Spencer-st., was fined $10 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Monday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of speeding. He was arrested Monday afternoon on W. College-ave for traveling 35 miles per hour. The arrest was made by Gus Hersekorn, motorcycle officer.

FOND DU LAC SHERIFF IS VICTIM OF THEFTS

Fond du Lac — (CP) — Maybe a sheriff is supposed to see justice done, but if you'll ask Sheriff Alfred Vande Zande he'll tell you "there ain't no justice." For example, Bent yesterday in pursuit of justice, the sheriff went to what remained of two barns on the Theodore Treleven farm. There had been quite a fire and Theodore wanted the sheriff to investigate. The fire burned too well. Theodore believed some one set fire to his barns. The sheriff investigated when he returned the motorometer and the gas tank cap had been stolen.

MUST REGULATE FARM PRODUCTION

Stone Says Farmer Must Not Produce More Than Can Be Consumed

Lincoln, Neb. — (CP) — Regulation of farm production to buying demand was named today as an essential part of the Federal Farm board's program by James C. Stone, vice-chairman, in an address prepared for a general meeting of Nebraska farm organizations.

"The farmer wants equality with industry, and he is entitled to it," Mr. Stone said. "The agricultural marketing act was passed by congress for the purpose of giving it to him, but economic laws cannot be done away with in the process, and one of the things which cannot be done is to put 100 bushels of wheat in a 75-bushel hole."

Business, he said, regulates production to meet the buying demand and to assure a profitable price, and at the same time tries to stimulate and enlarge the demand. If the American farmer wants to derive the fullest benefit from this legislation, Mr. Stone added, "he is going to have to be up to the mark in the most up-to-date and efficient manner."

Fluctuations of price levels from year to year, he gave as the farmer's greatest troubles, adding that one of the main objects of cooperative marketing is to take out the peaks and valleys in a large measure in the prices of farm products over a period of years, thereby placing the farmer who is a member of the association in a position to regulate production demand.

"I have never believed the farmer really wanted anybody to give him anything," Mr. Stone added. "All he wants is an equal opportunity and this he is entitled to, and if it is in the power of the farm board to bring this about under the present legislation, I pledge you now on my own behalf, as well as on behalf of the other members of the board, that we will do our best to accomplish it."

Dublin—Leitrim-co has refused a grant of $4,750 for a Carnegie library. It would have been necessary to tax the farmers in order to maintain the library and the county council decided that the money could be used to better advantage in relieving distress.

PUBLIC INTEREST "STEPS ON GAS" AT AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Crowds Interested in New Models — Producers Are Cheered

BY J. C. ROYLE
Copyright, 1930, by Cons. Press

New York — (CP) — Public interest "stepped on the gas" Monday at the New York automobile show and the automobile industry responded immediately with a burst of speed. Manufacturers found out from crowds which surged about the exhibits that there was no lack of interest and not shortage of purchasing power. The crowds have increased rather than decreased compared to previous shows and orders are piling satisfactorily.

This is already reflected in automobile plants. Few, even among manufacturers, realize this as yet, but steel makers and the railroads, who watch the automobile situation in general, know that conditions are showing decided improvement.

REPORTED TO HOOVER
This fact was communicated to President Hoover by the steel men through the department of commerce last week. The railroads, which control the automobile industry, reported a marked gain in freight into Michigan, Ohio and other strategic states. This means that the automobile factories are buying and receiving raw materials, which in the course of a few weeks will be moving out again in increased volume to distributors all over the world.

The lessons of the New York are the more impressive since the exhibits do not as a general rule reveal any revolutionary developments. The changes are changes of fashion rather than of form, yet the interest of the public is unabated. There is a true, a rather marked movement into the cylinder field, but 8 cylinder cars have been no novelty for years. This is also true of the front drive models. This method of power transmission has been used on the automobile race courses for along time both here and abroad.

Cars are being built lower but this is a fashion trend also. It normally follows development of better roads and owes its origin to European machines. The latter also have had more than a little to do with the prevalence of speed comforts with four speeds forward. European drivers shift gears constantly and are proud of their ability to do so smoothly and easily. Until now the American driver has been loath to shift, unless it was absolutely necessary and cars were designed especially so that he would not have to do so. Whether the ease of handling in constantly increasing traffic will overcome this objection is still a question in the minds of some.

The writer heard one motorist say "I bought an eight so as to have flexibility in traffic and would not have to shift and now they provide me with another speed to shift into."

BONE IS INCREASED
Some cars are increased the bore of their cylinders. This same move was prevalent in 1912 and 1913 when a five inch bore was not unusual. Some of these fashion trends return just like the bustle. The soberer colors are taken as a reflex from the bright trend of the last two years just as a man who has worn a checked overcoat naturally turns to a plain one.

Perhaps the greatest development of late years has been the closer understanding reached in the last few days between manufacturers and dealers. They have gotten together on a friendly basis with a disposition to lay aside the "big stick" and function together with ease and smoothness. Few dealers will be overloaded with new cars and attempts to set sales quotas for agents will not be made as in the past.

The manufacturers, it has become known, are giving serious consideration to branching out into the manufacture of by-products, such as equipment and personnel, during slack periods. The largest general producer has ventured into a half dozen fields, including aviation, refrigeration and radio. The peerless company is considering manufacturing radio receiving sets and a half dozen others are experimenting in aeronautics.

Prices seem likely to remain fairly stable in the automotive field, although there have been some recessions and others are rumored. However, sales volume is likely to receive more stimulation from advertising than from price reductions, according to present plans. The automobile men feel the gasoline price reductions in this section came at an opportune time.

Rain, Hail and Snow Rages in California in Wake of General Storm

San Francisco (AP)—Freezing temperatures in the far west followed today in the wake of the general storm which swept down out of the north in the early morning. Rain, hail and snow yesterday gave even California a taste of real winter weather.

That the storm would pass today, except in the southern California, was the prediction of the weather bureau here, which forecast abnormally low temperatures for the entire region west of the Mississippi river. Snow in Nevada and the Sierras was promised by the weather man.

At midnight a general drop in temperature was reported beginning in eastern Washington, northern Idaho and western Montana and extending through Oregon and even into southern California.

Heavy snows kept crews working to clear north and south-bound highways in southern Oregon, where damage was reported in the vicinity of Grant's Pass. Wires were out for 10 hours before communication was reestablished.

Enterprise, in the northwest part of the state, recorded four degrees below zero.

Extreme cold and snow in places where it seldom is seen were the features of the storm in California.

Redding, in Siskiyou-co, reported the heaviest snowfall in five years. Kenneth had five inches, Yreka and Weed two inches. The Siskiyou district reported 13 inches, with morning falling steadily. Highways in that region were kept clear with snowplows.

In the Truckee region snow was from 10 to 40 inches deep. Yosemite had five inches of snow with morning falling. Where it was not snowing the storm drenched the rest of the state with rain. San Francisco rarely has so much rain in winter. For cover, when an unexpected and unusually heavy hail storm fell yesterday. Rain fell as far south as

Financial And Market News

NO DEFINITE TREND ON N. Y. MARKET AS STOCKS FLUCTUATE
Believe Trading Is Lightest In Past Year; Ticker Often Stops

By STANLEY W. PRENSHIL
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York (AP)—Stock prices bobbed up and down within narrow trading limits today, without showing any indication of a definite trend. Trading fell off to the smallest volume of any day in the past year, the ticker frequently pausing for seconds at a time because of the absence of business. Commission houses presented a somewhat desolate appearance, floor traders apparently accounting for much of the day's business.

Call money renewed at 4 1/2 per cent but the demand was so light that the rate was dropped to 3 1/2 per cent. The rate was the lowest since Feb. 9, 1935. The time money market was dull, with rates unchanged, but short term bankers' acceptances were advanced 1-8 of 1 per cent.

The day's business news was rather colorless. Private estimates indicated another increase in the daily average of crude oil production in 1935. The opening up of new Oklahoma wells for testing purposes in connection with a pro-rata scheme. Directors of the Franklin Manufacturing company passed the 30 cent quarterly dividend, due at this time, and Nash Motors reported annual earnings for the year ended Nov. 30 of only slightly more than the $6 annual dividend reported for the common stock. With the exception of Woolworth, Kresge and National Bellas-Hess, most of the leading chain store systems reported increases in December sales above those of the same month a year ago.

SHOW STOCK STRONG
Heavy buying of Radio-Keith-Orpheum, one block of 20,500 shares changing hands at 25 5/8, was one of the new features of today's market session. Pennsylvania Railroad stock declined to 12 3/4, or slightly below the price established in the November break, with presumably inspired by the recommendation of the house interstate commerce committee for a legislative inquiry into railroad holding companies.

Union Tank Car broke 10 points, Western Union 3 1/4, General Electric 7 and Auburn Auto, Air Reduction, Johns-Manville, R. H. Macy, American Water Works, Electric Auto Lites, Otis Elevator, Nash Motors, Burroughs Adding Machine, Standard Gas & Electric, A. M. Byers and U. S. Industrial Alcohol all sold down 3 to 6 1/2 points.

U. S. Steel common advanced to 16 1/2, dropped to 16 1/2 and then rebounded to around 16 1/2. Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward rallied moderately in response to short covering.

Amusement shares developed pronounced strength in the final hour, following the bullish demonstration in Radio-Keith-Orpheum, Fox, Loews and Paramount. Paramount rallied more than 5 points in response to a court decision in their favor, but the class A stock fell 4 1/2 points. "Big Four" jumped 15 points on one sale of 10 shares. American Woolen Preferred rallied nearly 5 points on buying influenced by merger rumors and reports of an upward revision in the wool tariff.

U. S. Steel common advanced to 16 1/2, dropped to 16 1/2 and then rebounded to around 16 1/2. Sears-Roebuck and Montgomery Ward rallied moderately in response to short covering.

HOG PRICES DROP WITH LARGE RUN

Market Falls 10 to 15 Cents Below Monday's Average

Chicago (AP)—In the fact of a larger run than at any time for the last several weeks hog prices dropped 10c to 15c below Monday's average. Bidding on weights from 170 to 200 lbs. ranged from $5.60 to $5.65, and a number of loads were sold at those figures in the early trading. Medium weights were in abundance and also moved lower in selling at $5.40 to $5.50. Supplies of 50,000 hogs in the market were estimated at 37,000 last Tuesday but are in line with receipts a year ago of 48,000. Shipping demand was not quite so strong at the start and the big packers threatened to force further concessions before coming into the market.

Little was done at the start of the cattle trading, as buyers looked for the best of the market before buying the plainer stuff that came to market today. Prices at the stock yards were steady, but too little was done to move the market much either way. In calves a new demand for the best quality yearlings was seen and they opened at fully firm prices. Bulls also were strong on a decline because of a small supply for the last few days.

More sheep came to Chicago today than was good for the market, but the demand, both local and from the outside was potentially strong enough to hold prices steady. With the advances yesterday, when the extreme top moved up to $14.25 for lambs and to $12.75 for ewes. This latter figure was the highest price in months for sheep and was not paid today, although the market was active and in good shape to handle all the offerings. The run of 16,000 today at Chicago was double that of last Tuesday, but the two day supply of 25,500 is 3,000 smaller than last week.

WHEAT TUMBLES TO LOWEST MARK SINCE BEFORE CHRISTMAS

Reports of Russian Sales Abroad Causes Weakness of Market

By JOHN P. BOUGHAN
Associated Press Market Editor
Chicago (AP)—Influenced largely by persistent reports of Russian sales of wheat abroad, wheat prices here tumbled down today to the lowest level reached since before Christmas. Another bearish factor was comment that the United States wheat visible supply although now reduced to just 35,500,000 bu., below the total a year ago is more than 100,000,000 bu. larger than the average of five years previous. Toward the end of the day, however, considerable buying of wheat future deliveries took place on the ground that selling was being a good deal overdone.

Advised at hand today from abroad laid stress chiefly on alleged fear offerings of low-priced wheat from Russia, but also emphasized pressure to sell on the part of Argentine shippers. An immediate consequence, taken in connection with an unexpected sharp drop in Liverpool prices was heavy selling by holders of Chicago wheat contracts and by bearish speculators as well. A good deal of the selling was ascribed to eastern sources.

Announcement of good-sized clearances of wheat today from Galveston received but little notice and possibilities of cold wave crop damage in domestic winter wheat territory were also lost sight of for at least the time being. Authoritative reports of deficiency of soil moisture in Canada were likewise practically ignored. Indications pointed to a new export business whatever in North American wheat overnight.

Corn trade was not large and the market rather easily influenced. Speculators were reported as buying may corn in Buenos Aires and selling in Chicago at 2 1/2 difference compared with 30 difference at this time last year. North American available supplies increased 1,907,000 bu. for week and are 19,376,000 bu. against 19,445,000 bu. last year. Oats were moved mainly by the course of other cereals.

BADGER FLIERS TO TAKE PART IN "ARCTIC PATROL"

Second Lieut. Austin Straubel, Green Bay, Is on Expedition

BY RUBY A. BLACK
(Post-Crescent Washington Correspondent)

Washington—Two Wisconsin aviators are in the "Arctic Patrol" which starts off at 7:30 a. m. Wednesday from Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., for a series of combat practices over a 3,500-mile "battleground" extending to Spokane, Wash., and back.

They are:
Second Lieutenant Austin Straubel, Green Bay, who graduated from the Air Corps training center last June and was assigned to the First Pursuit Group as flight officer with the 27th Pursuit Squadron.

Second Lieutenant Paul M. Jacobs, Wauwatosa, who graduated at the same time as Lt. Straubel and is on duty with the 5th Service Squadron.

Michigan has three native sons in the "Arctic Patrol", including the officer in charge of the First Pursuit Group and in charge of the maneuvers, Major Ralph Royce of Hancock, Mich. Besides Wisconsin, the following states have two sons each in the maneuvers: Massachusetts, Illinois, and Texas. Fourteen states are represented by the 20 pilots.

The "Arctic Patrol" of the First Pursuit Group consists of 18 pursuit planes and two tri-motored transports, equipped with skids instead of their usual landing gear.

This is the first time in history that a large group of planes has engaged in mimic warfare under simulated conditions and over a "battleground" as long as the distance from New York to Paris.

STOP AT WAUSAU

On the return trip, the patrol will stop overnight at Wausau, Wis. On Jan. 15 the flight will start from Fargo, N. D., stop at noon in Minneapolis, and stop overnight at Wausau. The next morning it will start from Wausau, stop at noon at Escanaba, Mich., and arrive at its home station, Selfridge Field, Mich., during the afternoon.

While the primary purpose of the "Arctic Patrol" is to test the efficiency of planes, personnel, and equipment under the most severe winter conditions to be found south of the polar regions, its secondary object is to obtain first-hand experience in the

WORK IS STARTED ON NEW COUNTY GARAGE

Work has been started on the three-car garage to be erected at the north side of the county jail. The work is being done by the Hoffman Construction company of Appleton at a cost of about $1,600. The building will house automobiles of the sheriff's department. The garage is to be 22 feet long and 20 feet wide and will match the outside finish of the county jail. The work is expected to be completed in a month or six weeks.

HOLD CHECKER MEET AT FOND DU LAC

The annual meeting and tournament of the Wisconsin State Checker association will be held at Fond du Lac, Jan. 25 and 26, according to notices received here by the Y. M. C. A. The meeting will begin with a business session at 11 o'clock Jan. 25, and play in the tourney will begin as soon after the session adjourns as is possible. The meeting and tourney will be held in the community hall at Fond du Lac.

Whether Y. M. C. A. officers will be able to secure someone from Appleton to represent the city at the tourney is indefinite. There are many checker enthusiasts in the city and some of them may decide to enter the meet.

value of short-wave radio in connection with army air corps operations in remote sections and covering long distances.

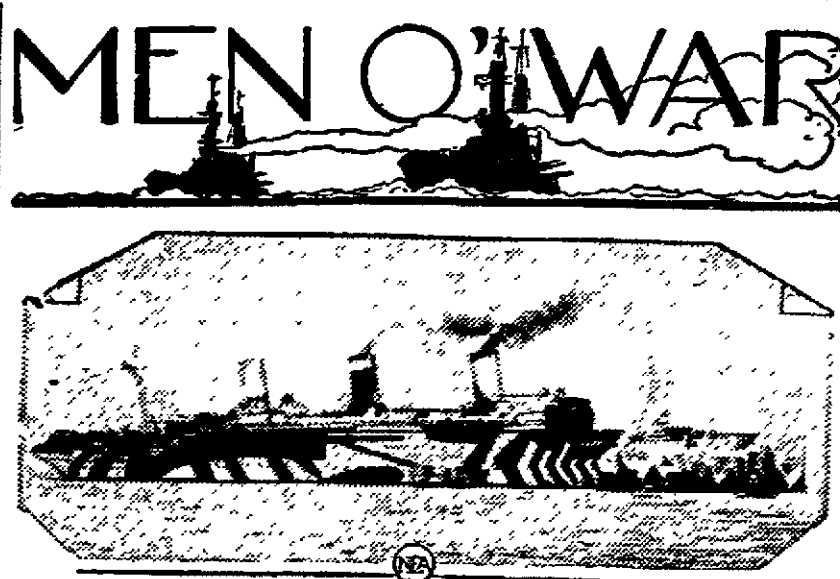

For this purpose, a short-wave radio station has been installed in one of the transports and will inaugurate a series of short-wave communication experiments while the ship is in transit as well as while it is on the ground. These tests involve the cooperation of the army radio network, the tens of thousands of members of the American Radio Relay league, and the experimental laboratories of the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y.

Through this flying radio station, the "Arctic Patrol" will be in constant direct communication with the army signal corps network through stations across the country, in night communication with the relay league, and in morning connections with the Scheideck laboratories.

The Leviathan in her war-paint as a transport—an example of the way the merchant marine becomes useful in time of war.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the twentieth and last of a series of articles on the strength of the U. S. navy, especially in comparison with that of Great Britain. The articles are of especial interest in view of the approaching arms limitation conference at London.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
If all navies were abolished the nation with the largest and fastest merchant marine would at once become the world's greatest sea power. As it is, all nations regard their merchant marine as an auxiliary to the navy because merchant ships are so easily convertible into vessels useful in time of war.

Under the existing federal law designed to aid and encourage American shipping, types, plans and specifications for new large vessels are submitted both to the Shipping Board and the secretary of the navy for approval. Thus the navy is able to get its own ideas into merchant ship construction if it desires.

Commercial ships can be armed and turned into fast raiders, as the Germans demonstrated. The World War also showed that they could serve as transports, cargo ships, hospital ships, mine layers and mine sweepers. An oil tanker, of course, requires no conversion when taken over by the navy. By installing machinery many of them can be converted to tenders. A good steamer with guns mounted on her decks becomes a fast but rather weak cruiser. Removal of superstructure and other alterations on a large passenger liner can make her serve as an aircraft carrier.

The navy never has enough auxiliary ships in time of war so it always turns to the commercial craft. Thus merchant marine is always a factor in sea power.

New York—(CPA)—Approximately enough, shaved lamb and goat-skin are being used by Paris for winter sport costumes destined to skip up and down the Alps. J. S. Talbot sends his patrons out to ski in dark cloth trousers topped by a wool sweater in brilliant colors, in knee length boots which have a wide lambskin cuff at the top, and in a headpiece of lambskin which, except that there is no glass over the face, strongly resembles a diver's helmet. He also sends other patrons to Switzerland in a slightly more than knee-length coat of beige goat-skin trimmed with bands of beige cloth.

Linger! grows more cut-out in back and more roomy in skirt than ever. One beautifully tailored slip is of dawn rose georgette, ornamented with a very little hand embroidery in a floral design of green and pale blue. The back, as far down as the waist, is practically non-existent, but the skirt has enough material in it for two slips of yesterday.

The man who thinks up names for sleeping-cars and seaside villas has evidently been concentrating upon recent colors. And the colors are as delightful as their names, which some cannot always be said for either villas or sleeping-cars. Who wouldn't crave sugar tints, which are among the off-whites? Or firebrand red, or the red known as tropic? Or Vienne violet? Or the beige called puerust? Or the light and darker sand tones christened respectively la haulte and waikkii, or the not too dark brown titled hula? And the cloud gray is not so dusty, either.

Comparative figures for the United States and Great Britain are:

Great Britain ..... 2947 17,655,600
United States ..... 1726 9,675,600

The next three or four most important maritime powers fall far behind in merchant ship tonnage, possessing between 500 and 600 ships apiece.
